

CITY FATHERS GIVE FIREMEN INCREASE OF PAY

Permanent Men Will Receive $100 More a Year to Take Effect Jan. 1--Bond Issue For New Stand Pipe

At the regular meeting of the Portsmouth City Council held last evening the council unanimously passed a resolution changing the city ordinances and gave an increase of $100 in the salary of the permanent men of the fire department. The resolution takes effect on the first of the year. The action was in response to a petition from the firemen, approved by the Board of Engineers and the members of the committee on fire department. The petition was introduced by Councilman Smart and was followed immediately by the introduction of the resolution by Councilman Wood. The bill passed its several readings on a suspension of the rules at this meeting, no votes being cast against it.

The raise of $100 makes the salary of the firemen $1000 a year and the fire engineers are increased from $1000 to $1100.

The proposed bond issue of $5000 for the construction of a stand pipe in connection with the Beverly Brook water system of the city's supply was also passed on second and third readings and the city treasurer was authorized to issue the bonds and ask for bids. The bill had passed its first reading at the meeting of the council in October.

The meeting opened at 8.00 o'clock with Councilmen Barthwick, Matthews, Raynes, Helt, Paterson, Sullivan, Stuart and Wood, present. Nearly an hour and a half of the council's time was spent in the discussion as to who controls "Frenchman's Lane" and after the close of the discussion it was referred to the committee on public lands and buildings to report at the next meeting. In the interest of the abutters Attorney Samuel W. Emery and Mr. Tilton of the Morley Button Company were given permission to speak. Mr. Emery went into the his-

VILLA RENEWS ATTACK ON CHIHUAHUA

Violent Fighting Is Reported in the Streets of the City
by Refugees.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 24.—Undaunted by his repulse in yesterday's fighting, Villa has resumed the attack upon Chihuahua City. According to advices received here today his forces were about the outskirts of the city. Reports as to the progress of the battle are contradictory; the Carranza forces claiming that the Villa forces were everywhere repulsed, but refugees arriving from that section, state that there has been violent fighting in the streets of the city.

SANBORN WOULD HAVE INQUIRY

Into the Causes and Attendant Circumstances of the Death of Miss Sarah Jane Farmer at Home at Eliot

To the physicians and lawyers of New Hampshire and Maine:

It behooves you, members of the learned professions in the two states, in which ones lived my friend, and the friend of thousands of good men and women in all parts of the nation, and in various countries of Europe, and Asia to whom she was personally and affectionately known for many years, to make prompt and searching inquiry into the causes and attendant circumstances of the death, reported today of Miss Sarah Jane Farmer, in her own house at Eliot, in Maine, under the care of a nominal guardian named Hammond. She had long protested against his appointment as her guardian, preferring her own chosen New Hampshire guardian, the late Edwin Glen, at whose request and expense she became the patient of a skillful physician in his sanitarium at Portsmouth, N. H. She also protested to me and to many others against being removed by force to her own home in Eliot, from which she was taken seven years since by a friend and physician, in a state of long continued and recognized insanity, to a sanitarium at Nashua, N. H., with the consent, indeed, at the wish of several of the same persons who in August last, did forcibly remove her thereto, at dead of night under pretended legal process, founded on false allegations; and it is reported in an unconscious condition. She had recovered from her insanity (recurrent mania) more than four years ago, but had for some years been suffering from a malady incident to her years, (arterial sclerosis,) which required watchful and tender care. This she was receiving to my certain and experienced knowledge at Portsmouth. Had any reputable physician been asked what would probably be the consequence of taking a patient in this disease, from her bed and her first slumbers at 10 p. m. and hurrying her half-clad into the cool air of a rainy night, then carrying her three or four miles into a house not carefully provided for her reception, that physician would have said as I did when I heard of it, "It can only shorten her life." I said the same thing to her last physician, with whom I had a long interview on the 19th. Twice since her forced removal from the protection of the New Hampshire law, I have been refused access to her by her nominal guardian, though I have been for years her legal attorney.

HOSPITAL SHIP SUNK IN THE AEGEAN SEA

Braemer-Castle Meets Same Fate as the Britannic--All on Board Are Safe Says the Report

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 24.—The British hospital ship Braemer-Castle has been sunk by a mine or a torpedo in the Aegean sea. She is the second ship to be sunk in this vicinity this week, the Britannic having been destroyed on Tuesday. Official announcement was made of the Braemer-Castle loss today. No lives were lost. The Braemer-Castle was on her way from Malta to Salonica when she was sunk. "All on board are safe" says the report.

GREAT BLOW TO ROUMANIANS

Two Important Towns on the Danube Which Control Iron Gateway are Captured by Austro-German Forces

(Special to The Herald)
Berlin, via Sayville by wireless, Nov. 24.—Osterla and Turnu Severin have been captured from the Roumanians by the Austro-German forces, the war office announced this morning. All Roumanian resistance in the western part of the country has been smashed. The capture of Osterla and Turnu Severin is a great blow to the Roumanians and it is reported that a great many prisoners were captured at the same time. These two towns are on the Danube and jointly they control the iron gate as this part of the Danube is called. It is here that the boundaries of Hungary, Serbia and Roumania meet and it has a great military value because it is on the main line railroad from Bucharest into Austro-Hungary. At Dobrudja the war office reports that the Russians have been hurled back by Von Mackensen's army.

GOVERNMENT AND RAILROADS IN AGREEMENT

Will Allow Santa Fe Case to Be Used as Test Case Before Supreme Court.

Kansas City Nov. 24.—It was virtually admitted at 10.30 this forenoon that an understanding had been reached by the government and the railroads on the Adamson eight-hour law and all that remains is to put the agreement into writing and sign it. It is understood that the government has agreed to let the Santa Fe case be used as a test case before the supreme court and in return the railroads have agreed to stop all the contemplated suits until a decision is given by the upper court.

PEACE WITHOUT DECISION WILL MEAN NOTHING

Noted Catholic Prelate Comments Forcibly on Great European War.

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 24. Copyright by International News Service.—A statement on the war by Father Bernard Vaughan, who is probably the most noted Catholic prelate in England and who is known as one of the great preachers of the day, was made to the International News Service today. Fr. Vaughan has probably done more to stir the public pulse than any man in the British empire and his statement is as follows:

"It seems to me that England has passed through three stages of her appreciation of the real meaning of this slaughter of humans, called warfare. I think I may say that all of us without exception, creed or politics, have at last to face the awful reality that England's sword has been drawn not only to defend her national rights by the international security of the world. In other words, the Allies from Petrograd to Salonica and from Rome to London are linked together resolved never to sheath the sword or silence the guns, or cry 'enough,' until they are in a position not only to come to terms, but to dictate to the enemy. Unless the Allies are resolved to fight on until victory is theirs, it would be better that they had never fought at all. Peace without a real decision would mean nothing more than an armed truce. Until the enemy is prepared to stop shouting 'world conquest, or death,' we must go on. God avert such a calamity to Europe or the world again."

FORD VERDICT SUSTAINED

In William H. Welch, administrator of Thomas H. Ford, late of Exeter vs. Boston and Maine, the supreme court has handed down a decision sustaining the verdict of $5,000 for the plaintiff, at the last November term of superior court.

Judge Ernest L. Capill of this city, William H. Sleeper of Exeter and Horace L. Bartlett of Newburyport were counsel for the plaintiff. Jones, Warren, Wilson and Manning represented the railroad.

No session of police court today.

CAPTURE GERMAN PRISONERS

In Surprise Attack in Alsace
Is Announced by War Office.

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, Nov. 24.—The capture of a number of German prisoners in a surprise attack in Alsace near Illersheim, was announced by the German war office this morning. Great artillery is reported at Salm-Salmsel. In a series of forty air fights the Germans lost five machines.

REFUSE TO CONFIRM THE COMMISSIONER

Councillors Refuse to Accept Gov. Spaulding's Appointment.

Concord, Nov. 24.—Governor Spaulding today nominated Commissioner of Agriculture Andrew J. Felker for another term. Councillor Hunsell of Keene voted to confirm, but the four other councillors voted in the negative and the nomination was not confirmed. Mr. Felker is a Democrat and his term expired last August.

ONLY TRENCH RAIDS BY THE BRITISH

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 24.—Only trench raids by the British were reported in the official statement of the war office today. It states that German trenches were raided southeast of Ypres near Festubert and in the neighborhood of Bala (Freder), otherwise there is nothing to report.

JEWEL THIEVES MAKE CONFESSION

Daggett Brothers Acknowledge Theft of Harriman Jewel.

New York, Nov. 24.—Full confessions have been made by Orville and Arthur Daggett, brothers that they stole the $67,000 jewel from Mrs. E. H. Harriman. According to the police all of the gems in the piece with the exception of a platinum chain and a diamond, valued at $10,000 have been recovered. The $40,000 rub- forming the main stone in the famous piece was found in the pocket of an old coat belonging to one of the Daggetts.

BREAK DOWN BRITISH ATTACKS

Berlin, via Sayville by wireless, Nov. 24.—Terrific cannon fire of the German guns broke down the British attacks along the northern end of the Somme front last night. At no point, the war office claims, were the British able to reach the German trenches. Great activity is reported in West Flanders in the region of Ypres.

CANVASS ALL BUT SIX TOWNS AND ONE CITY WARD

Governor and Council Will Complete Task on Dec. 1.

Concord, Nov. 23.—Roland H. Spaulding and his Executive Council met at the State House in this city last evening to canvass the returns of the votes cast in this state on Nov. 7 for Presidential electors. They adjourned late until Friday, Dec. 1, without completing their task, because of obvious errors discovered in the returns made by the clerks of six towns and one ward to the Secretary of State.

The places concerned are Alstead, Crofton, Eaton, Groton, Hinsdale, Milford and Ward 12 of Manchester.

These officials will be notified by the Secretary of State to correct their returns before the meeting next week.

At the session last night the Republican State Committee was represented by its chairman, Philip H. Fackner of Keene, while the Democratic State Committee had three representatives present, Sen. Robert C. Murelle, his brother, City Solicitor Alexander Murelle, and Ex-Sec. Commissioner Robert Jackson of Concord.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph S. Matthews and Ex-Sec. of State Edward N. Parsons were present by request of the Governor and Council to give advice upon local and official points involved.

It was brought out that the Republican State Committee had secured from the different town and ward clerks certified statements of the vote for Presidential electors as declared in their various election districts, and that these certified statements differed in five towns from those made to the Secretary of State, although they were made by the same officials.

The net result of these variations would be a gain of five votes for the Republican electoral candidates, reducing the apparent Wilson plurality in New Hampshire from 64 to 59.

In a large number of towns and wards technical, but not numerical, errors were made by the officials in reporting the returns. In most of these cases the votes were reported to have been cast for "Hughes" or "Wilson," instead of for the candidates named on the ballot. No objection was made by either side to the counting of these returns as correct.

But in some places, the clerks in making their returns had certified a certain number of votes for the first candidate in order on the Republican side, and a certain number for the first Democratic candidate, and had neglected to make any return of the three other candidates on each side.

Another error which has been discovered was not considered at the meeting last night, but may involve further complications later. The name of one of the Democratic candidates for Presidential elector was furnished to the Secretary of State by the Democratic State Committee as Lawrence A. Connor of Manchester and was so printed on the official ballots. It now appears that Lawrence M. Connor of Manchester was the man named by the Democratic State convention for the place and that no Lawrence A. Connor is to Manchester.

It is presumed that the Governor and Council will certify to the election of Lawrence A. Connor and that, if so, no such person appears on the other three Democratic tickets will have the power under the statute to fill the vacancy, which doubtless they will do by the choice of Lawrence M. Connor.

But if it should be held that no such person as Lawrence A. Connor of Manchester existed, his election would void, then it might be claimed that the Republican candidate for elector having the largest number of votes, who was George B. Leighton of Dublin, was chosen, and New Hampshire's electoral vote might be divided, with three for Wilson and one for Hughes.

NOTES OF THE SPORTS

Smart Chosen for Captain

Roland Smart, one of the best school boy tackle in New England has been elected captain of the Portsmouth High school team for the season of 1917. The squad will be greatly depleted next June at graduation but there still will be left for a full eleven, Smith, another tackle, and the colored quarterback, Thompson. In the Manchester-Portsmouth game Smart's playing stood out prominently. He opened big holes through which the backfield stars rushed consistently. Coach Boyd declared after the game that Smart was one of the best tackles in this section of the country, for a school boy.

Manchester is the Favorite

Manchester and Concord High will battle for the state championship on Saturday and from a general size-up of the two teams it looks as though the pashan champions of the Queen City would easily carry off the honors.

Butler May Be Unable to Play

It is now feared that the injury to "Red" Butler, captain of the local high school football team, sustained in the opening game of the season against Thornton Academy at Seabrook, Me., will keep him out of basketball this winter and probably out of base ball next spring unless great improvement is made. The injury was a bad wrench of the knee combined with a pulled tendon and it has not healed so that Butler can stretch out his leg.

Made Dartmouth Captain

Flornond J. Dussault has been chosen captain of the Dartmouth football team for 1917. He has for two years been a regular end and his consistent playing has earned favorable comment from experts all over the East. A sure tackler and dependable in covering punts, he has been one of Coach Cavanaugh's mainstays this season. His aggressive work in forming interference and receiving forward passes last year earned him an almost unanimous selection as All-New England end, and his playing this year was even better. Dussault entered Dartmouth college from Brookline high where he played tackle three years. Course difficulties kept him from a place on the 1915 freshman eleven, but the following year the coaches shifted him from tackle to left end, which he has done two seasons.

Navy Team Expects Victory

Confident in their ability to break the string of West Point victories, 1200 midshipmen Thursday night took their team through the streets of Annapolis and gave them a real send off when the start was made for New York where on Saturday the inter-service football clash will be staged. The navy team has shown much more real football prowess this year than for many seasons past, and the many victories won nothing to it but a navy victory by a decisive score. The Middy backfield, while made up of exceptionally speedy men, has the handicap of being composed of players, who, until last year, never played in a big game. The navy coaches, however, profess confidence in their men.

Western Teams Issue Defi

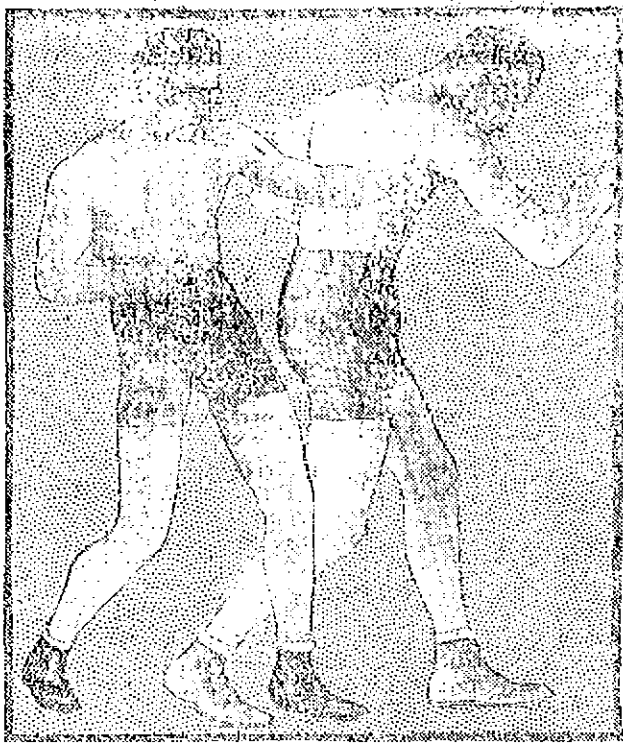

The Haverhill high school football team has the chance to play two more western teams, Englewood high and De Paul Academy. The former, however, is the only one of the pair to issue a direct challenge to Haverhill for a game at Haverhill Thanksgiving or at Englewood Dec. 2. The De Paul end of a game with an eastern team is entirely up to Rev. Brother Fabian, director of St. Joseph's school, Somerville, Mass., who has issued a deft to five schools, among them Manchester High. Englewood has scored 244 points to their opponent's 0. An attempt will be made to have the game played at Haverhill on December 9, if those in charge of high school athletics are in favor of this plan.

Chances Look Slim

The chances of arranging a post-season game between Brown and Pittsburgh to decide the eastern championship look mighty slim. The fact that the authorities of Pittsburgh have announced that the schedule of the team will positively end with the playing of the Pennsylvania State game on Thanksgiving day, however has not deterred several men of recognized influence of going ahead with the attempt to arrange such a game. It is doubtful if the authorities at either institution would sanction such an event.

Billy Miske, the remarkable young light heavyweight of Minnesota, has created a sensation by his first appearance in the east. He not only whipped battling Lavinsky twice, but he decisively beat Bob Mohr, the toughest and starkest customer in the ring today.

These photographs show the start and the finish of his terrible right hook, which he uses much as did Bob Fitzsimmons, the greatest of pugilists. It will be noticed he swings his entire body from the knees with that punch, thus getting all his weight except that of his legs below the knees into it.

NEWINGTON

The regular meeting of the Grange was held on Tuesday evening. The district deputy paid his annual inspection visit. The third degree was worked in a creditable manner, much praise being given the officers for their excellent work. Several visitors were present.

The Respectful Society met at Mrs. Beckley's on Wednesday afternoon. Much work was accomplished and plans were perfected for the annual supper and sale to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 8. The heating and tables will exhibit many pleasing and useful articles.

The Vice Versa Society will hold their winter party on Thursday evening.

Mr. William Newell has moved his family to Gravelly Ridge.

The inoperative party will be held in the town hall on Wednesday evening of next week. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the modern.

Thanksgiving services will begin at the town hall on Sunday. Morning service at 10:15, preaching by the pastor. The subject will be "Thanksgiving at Mizpah."

At 7:30 will be a road parade service followed by a brief account of the pastor's recent visit to the Sunday laborer in Boston. It is hoped that there will be a large congregation present, both morning and evening.

Mrs. Martha Hoy attended the Grange meeting in Exeter on Wednesday evening.

The ice and snow has not wholly disappeared but enough so that one can finish their work advantageously. It is hoped that all will be ready for winter before the next snow storm comes.

Mrs. McIntire was called home to Reading, Mass., for a few days on account of the death of her mother.

GREENLAND

Messes Isabel and Harriet Paul leave this week to take up their residence in Boston for the winter.

The annual Christmas sale by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Universalist church is to be held on the evening of Dec. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. Davis left Thursday morning for Boston where they will remain for the winter.

The Boy Scouts hold an oyster supper at the Methodist vestry tomorrow evening when a program consisting of speaking by prominent men of the organization will be carried out.

West Swasey, Nov. 24—"Tickett" Ann, known in private life as Mrs. Anne Kibbick, and familiar to physicians from coast to coast, as the workhouse wail in "The Old Homestead," was buried yesterday beside her father, Dennan Thompson, the "Joshua Whitecomb" of the play. Mrs. Kibbick, who was 41 years of age, was the widow of Mr. Thompson's business manager. She was stricken with paralysis in Boston last Tuesday night and died a few hours later.

Jack London, on his heroic deed, died in the harness. He was working, propped up in bed, when the end came.

JUNE CAPRICE DIRECTION WILLIAM FOX

MEXICANS ASK ADJOURNMENT OF TWO WEEKS

Members of Joint Commission Want to Consult Carranza.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 24.—A recess of two weeks has been requested by the Mexican members of the Mexican-American joint commission to give an opportunity to lay before Gen. Carranza the proposals formulated by the Americans for border control.

The indications were last night that the request would be granted.

Alberto J. Vint probably will be delegated by his colleagues to confer personally with General Carranza and present to him a detailed statement of the developments since Secretary of the Interior Lane presented the American program as approved by President Wilson.

The Americans have earnestly attempted to convince the Mexicans that such an agreement as has been proposed would be advisable, but Gen. Carranza's representatives have insisted thus far that they cannot concur in a plan which they maintain would involve the humiliation of their country.

Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commission and Ignacio Bonillas, probably will remain in the United States until Mr. Paul returns or they are officially informed of the defects government's desires.

The Americans probably will spend the recess at their homes.

NEWMARKET

On Wednesday evening Rising Star Lodge, No. 47, A. F. and A. M., received an official visitation from District Deputy Grand Master, H. W. Alford E. Hayes of Exeter, and the Deputy Grand Lecturer, R. W. E. Frank Bommer of Dover. The M. M. degree was conferred after which a collation was served and a smoke talk enjoyed.

John W. Webb, who died at Newmarket on Wednesday, was well known in Newmarket. He was a Past Commander of George A. Gay Post, G. A. R., and a member of Rising Star Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and Lamprey River Grange, P. of H. His son Walter Webb of Omaha, Neb., arrived here Wednesday. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon at his late home and was largely attended.

Next Sunday Rev. Eugene D. Duffell, speaks both morning and evening at the Baptist church of Portsmouth, Mass., in exchange with the pastor of that church.

At the annual meeting of the Rockingham County Farmers' Association held at Exeter on Monday of this week, John Walker was elected on the executive committee.

Wilfred Green and family moved to Killingly, Conn., more than a year ago, have returned to Newmarket, to work again for the Newmarket Manufacturing Co.

Mrs. F. C. Osgood and little daughter, Esther, of South Freeport, Me., are visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Atherton.

The program for next week at John Webster hall is as follows:

Monday evening, Washuchi Camp Fire Girls, French English class.

Tuesday evening band rehearsal.

Wednesday evening, Newmarket Girls' club.

Thursday evening Girls' Sewing club, in charge of Miss Sanborn of Durham. Polish Speaking club.

Friday evening, Boy Scouts.

Library open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and every evening (except Sundays) until 9 o'clock.

It is understood that the Democratic Club are to take permanent quarters as soon as a suitable hall can be secured. The present quarters in Freeman's Hall will be maintained until after the city election.

The Herald prints no news when it is news and not 48 hours to a week old.

The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at City Hall on Tuesday, Nov. 23, Tuesday, Dec. 5, and Wednesday, Dec. 6, from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m., to prepare the checklist to be used at the coming election, Dec. 12, 1916.

Also on election day from 8 to 12 a. m. for the purpose of granting certificates to those legal voters whose names have been omitted from the list. RALPH C. GRAY, Chairman. FRED T. HATTON, Clerk.

NEW SUBMARINE CRISIS FACING UNITED STATES

Sinking of Arabia May Call for Lengthy Controversy Between this Country and Germany is Opinion of Berlin Papers

London, Nov. 23.—A Berlin wireless despatch which represents what official Germany wants published in the United States, thinks a new crisis with America is at hand over the German methods of submarine warfare. With characteristic disingenuousness the statement is made that the Arabia was "armed and used her cannon." This is absolutely false according to the testimony of an American on board who, on the contrary, says that the vessel was sunk without warning and hence had no opportunity to use her weapon. The further claim that she carried war workers which made her an enemy transport is equally wrong. The Arabia did carry a 15-centimeter gun and had workmen and war munitions, but she was a passenger liner, with many passengers aboard. There was one American on his way to India. Today's cables report the consensus of European opinion is that the death of the Arabia removed the last obstacle to the final envelopment of Austria by Prussian power. The late emperor had lived so long and become so great a figure in Europe that to dispossess his personality was intended by many more difficulties than were in the way of the German subjugation of Austria-Hungary. Nothing now stands in the path of the Hohenzollerns. If the Allies wish there can be no attempt made by them to reestablish the power of Austria, even as a counter balance to Prussian designs. Germany is today the Austrian state, having full command of Austria-Hungarian armies. The sudden, proud court party of Vienna, if it goes too far, will be rudely checked by court-martial. The new emperor, bewildered, is too young to venture experiments or defy orders from the Powers he has for many months implicitly obeyed. Whatever high sounding proclamation "to my people" may issue from the Hofburg, the voice will be the voice of Jacob, but the hand will be the mailed fist of Prussia.

ammunition there and the sinking by the Romans of the barges in the Danube, presumably in the region indicated. A Hucharest official statement today, the first received since Sunday last, reports the withdrawal of the Romans from the Jiu valley, but throws little further light on the situation around Craiova. The Romans are reported to have maintained their positions in the Alt valley.

So far it appears that the Entente forces which captured Monastir have not been able to press their advance beyond the new line taken up by the Bulgarians and Germans a short distance north of the city. Sofia records the repulse of Entente attacks in the bend of the Cerna and further eastward and the stopping of advance guards which were pushing forward in the regions of lakes Prespa and Ochrida, to the west. The British admiralty today confirmed press advices that there were no wounded on board the British hospital ship, Britannia, when she was sunk in the Aegean. Those on the vessel were her crew and the hospital staff. In connection with the destruction of the Britannia it may be stated that no known device was neglected, to make the steamer "unsinkable." She had a double bottom over five feet deep, sixteen transverse bulkheads and six of the compartments could be flooded without affecting the stability of the ship.

Only artillery and aviation operations along the Somme, in northern France and elsewhere on the Franco-Belgian front are reported in today's bulletins, from London and Paris. The French war office records the bringing down by the French aviator Sub-Lieutenant, George Guynemer of his twenty-second German airplane.

AIRPLANE BIDS VARY

Washington, Nov. 23.—Bids for 112 hydro-aeroplanes opened today at the War Department, disclosed such a variety of prices and conditions that only careful study can determine which the Government will accept. Twelve companies submitted proposals ranging in price from $12,000 to $22,497 per machine. Some of the bidders proposed to build as few as four machines others offered to build the 45.

The specifications require the machines to rise from a high water against a wind of not less than seven miles an hour and to ascend within one thousand feet from the starting point. The minimum speed required is 45 miles an hour, with a weight of about 450 pounds.

It is pretty hot stuff when a man will corner the egg market, or any other good market and then say that he is in sympathy with the public.

HEADACHE FROM A COLD? LISTEN!

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends severe colds or grippe in few hours.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

WITH THE SPORTS

By Frank G. McNeil

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Albie Gibbons of St. Paul is one of the marvels of the pugilist ring, also one of the mysteries. The phantom demonstrated the first part of this statement recently when he took on Jack Dillon, light heavyweight and handed him one of the most scientific lacerations the Indianapolis marshall ever got in his long and honored career of eight years.

Gibbons is the last word in cleverness and ring generalship. He scored a flock of points before Dillon got into action and before the scrap was over he had piled up enough of them to win six fights. Yet Dillon, strongman of the ring and slogger of note the cave man, wildcat, sold blow of the cave man did not manage to land one solid blow on Gibbons during the fight.

Gibbons displaced remarkable ability to shift his body just enough to make every blow of Dillon either glance off harmlessly or miss entirely.

Bill Brennan, in the warm days a big league emcee and in the winter a boxer for pleasure and of no mean ability at either, boxed with Gibbons all last winter.

"And I never laid a glove on him with enough force to kill a fly," Brennan swears.

Listen to what a veteran sportswriter of Chicago says about Gibbons:

"I have been looking at boxers for 30 years and I never would have believed that any man could show such marvellous work as Gibbons displayed in the Dillon contest. Dillon was ready, trained to the minute, having put in ten desperate days to fit himself for the fray. Yet he was slow in comparison with the St. Paul man. Every time he landed and that was seldom, Gibbons was slipping along in the same general direction that the punch was going and thus nullified the effects of it."

"You would think a man that could win such praise would be fighting every few days and reaping in the golden harvest which awaits the clever boxer. Yet Gibbons hasn't made enough out of the ring to keep him in feed for a year. The principal reason seems to be that Gibbons doesn't care for money, although he is no millionaire. The general supposition has been that any boxer would fall readily when approached by a man with coin. In both fists and in this day of inflated prices for their encounters Mr. Gibbons should be cleaning up. Instead of which he fights every few months and most always there has been a little report of 'gentleman's agreement' or the fight has been a fiasco.

Gibbons weighs at thousands of dollars when only a pound or two of weight has stood in the way, yet he ought to be able to give most any of them twenty pounds and then be so far in the lead at the finish that you couldn't see his opponent.

Wherein lies the mystery of Gibbons? Perhaps it is because he is not a business man and insists upon handling his own affairs instead of getting a live manager to handle them for him.

Little Mitchell, classy lightweight of Milwaukee is another one who should be reaping a golden harvest, yet is not. His brother Billy is his manager and while Billy is a nice little fellow and a good sport what he doesn't know about managing a fighter is considerable. If a fix was had behind Mitchell, it wouldn't be long before he was a championship contender. Yet he seems content to go along and fight every few months before the same club in Milwaukee that gave him his start.

You might include Eddie McGearty, just now of Australia, in the same class. He went over there to do a little fighting and a great drawing card and immediately began to have the ring to let on horse races and get out of training. Latest reports are he is so fat now that it is doubtful if he ever will fight again.

Yet McGearty in condition, would find the foot pouring into his strong-box either in Australia or back in the U. S. A. If he would only go after it.

Oscar Matthew Battling Nelson, once champion of the lightweight ranks, and one of the gamest men who ever pulled on a glove, is almost broke. To those who recall Nelson as one of the busiest ring men who ever wore a crown, who remember his long theatrical engagements, his feistiness when it came to money affairs, this may sound like a pipel but it is a fact nevertheless. Bat says so himself.

This is the way it came about. Bat, as is well known, is the one big man Hegewich, Ill., ever produced. And Bat always has been as proud of the old home town as it has been of him. So most of the $200,000 which he accumulated in the heyday of his career went into Hegewich real estate, then unimproved.

Bat conceived the idea of competing in the Illinois Central railroad to build a station on property which he owned. But the railroad refused and Bat soon found himself swamped under ordinances passed by the city council requiring him to put in saw-ers, to pave some streets, to grade others and to make all kinds of improvements on his property. He made them but it just about ate up all of his money. Now he can't get rid of his property and if he could it is doubtful if he could cash it in for a third of what it has cost him.

From Bat's own statement, it is doubtful if he could rake up more than $10,000 in cash even if it would give him that long cherished but now dead ambition of regaining the crown which once adorned his battered head.

Where the Color-Line Slipped

(From the New York Evening Post)

We look forward eagerly to ascertaining from our Southern exchanges what ought to be done to this negro on the Brown football team who had the unparalleled impudence to sear at will on Yale and Harvard. "In the victory" says the Sun, in dangerously inflammable language, "one man stood out as possibly the greatest halfback of the country and he is Fred Pollard, the negro player of the Providence team." We regret to note, too, that when Pollard scored his third touchdown after running forty-six yards through the entire Harvard team, "the crowd rose as one and accented him an ovation rarely heard even on a collegiate field." This is all very generous of course, but where does it leave our old familiar friends Social Equality and Anglo-Saxon Superiority? Isn't this putting dangerous ideas into Pollard's head as to what constitutes his proper place? Did not the Stadium crowd realize that by thus applauding a mere "nigger" they were endangering white supremacy in the South? Perhaps in order to keep Fred Pollard from being unduly elated some one will send him the news from the Macmillan Daily Telegraph of how a Florida gentleman on Thursday last used a revolver on a colored chauffeur for the heinous crime of grinning at him. The bullet missed, but the chauffeur is in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct!

PAYING WALL STREET BETS

Stakeholders Turn Over Money on Largest Wagers, Regarding Wilson's Election as Settled.—Total of Bets in District $3,600,000 to $5,000,000.

New York, Nov. 23.—Holders of some of the largest wagers made in Wall street on the presidential election began paying the bets off yesterday on the assumption that there was now no doubt President Wilson had been elected.

Estimates of the total sum wagered in the financial district range from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. Probably half was paid within a week after election, but the balance was held by stakeholders pending a final agreement between bettors. It was said there still remained a few who placed money on Hughes who insist their bets not be paid until President Wilson's election is conceded officially.

RECEPTION TO RECTOR

St. John's Parish rendered a reception to the Rev. Nelson W. Kellogg, Rector of the church, on Thursday afternoon at the chapel on State street. The reception was largely attended. Mrs. Kellogg, mother of the rector, was presented with a large bouquet of roses by the parishioners.

tory of the road from 1775 when it received its name. At that time, according to Mr. Emery, the French Fleet can Revolution. One of the sailors, was at Portsmouth during the American Revolution. He was always known as Frenchman's Lane. Mr. Emery said that it was a part of the public highway up until 1792 when that part of Salisbury street between Spinnery's Road and Harbottle street was built. He said that the road is mentioned in Brewster's Rambling About Portsmouth, published in 1834 and was spoken of there as a public highway. In 1853 and again in 1853 the road was used by the city at the time of the return of the Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth. In 1853 Portsmouth spent some money on the repair of the road but had not spent any since that date and he contended that by this the city has abandoned the road as a public highway.

In 1874, Mr. Emery said, the City gave permission to Frank Jones to grade the road to suit his convenience and at his own expense. The road does not appear on any map of Portsmouth later than 1892 and as the "highway" is blocked by a part of the Morley-Hutton company buildings and some of the Boston and Maine railroad buildings are also building on the road it would appear that it was not a public property.

Mr. Tilton of the Morley Company, also spoke on the matter and stated that the road led directly into the button shop property and he had always supposed that it was a part of their property. Mayor Ladd introduced a resolution to have the matter referred to the committee on public lands and buildings.

Councilman Matthews took exception to the mayor introducing any resolutions and he was upheld by Councilman Smart. Both councilmen were declared out of order. Councilman Smart appealed to the City Solicitor as to the right of the mayor to introduce legislative measures in the council. The motion was finally put when the mayor ruled that according to the charter the council "shall consist of nine members and the mayor" and by this the mayor was one of the council. On the question Councilman Northwick, Raynes, Hett and Smart voted in the affirmative. Councilmen Matthews, Thurston, Sullivan and Woods in the negative. The tie was broken by the Mayor who voted in the affirmative and the question of the ownership of the lane will be reported on by the committee on lands and buildings at the next meeting on Dec. 11.

The request for a leave of the old armory to the Christian Science church in this city was refused. Some time ago the church, petitioned the city to allow them to lease the building to them as a meeting place, the church to make such changes and repairs as were necessary for their purpose. They asked a long lease. Councilman Smart reported for the committee on Public Lands and Buildings reported the petition for action, recommending that it not pass. Councilman Hett offered a motion, which was passed, not to allow the city to lease any of its public buildings to private individuals or orders.

Councilman Raynes, reporting for the committee on bills for the second reading, reported favorably on the proposed holding of a bond issue of $5000 for the erection of a stand pipe for the Beverly Brook water system. The resolution was passed on its first reading at the last meeting and was introduced by Councilman Matthews. The bill provided for the issue of five bonds of $1000 denomination, one payable each year, 1918, 1920, 1922, 1924 and 1926.

The rules of the council were suspended to allow the passing of the resolution at this meeting and the resolution was passed.

A resolution was passed allowing the sinking fund commission to cancel its bond due in 1916.

The disputed bill presented by Charles Paul for the sum of $200, salary and expenses as dog catcher, was ordered paid by the council. The salary was set at $200 and Mr. Paul submitted a bill for $220, divided as $200 salary, $11 for "killing dogs" and $9 for team hire. At the last meeting the council had believed that the $15 and $5 items were not collectable as killing dogs was part of the work. A letter, threatening suit against the city, written by Judge Calvin Page, attorney for Mr. Paul, was read by the mayor.

As to the amount of $4109.13, due and approved by the auditor, were ordered paid on motion of Councilman Matthews.

Payroll and salary roll, to the amount of $1044.19 submitted by the auditor was ordered paid and the mayor authorized to draw his warrant as they become due, on a motion of Councilman Northwick.

Councilman Matthews offered a resolution which passed, transferring from funds available, the sum of $125 to the police department.

A resolution introduced by Councilman Matthews transferred to the sinking fund the sum of $14,250, to be used as due in the municipal fund; and the sum of $8200 from the hydrant rentals to the water department.

A resolution introduced by Councilman Matthews transferred $100 from any available source to the department of vital statistics.

A resolution was passed authorizing the treasurer to pay the telephone bill of the superintendent of fire alarm.

On motions of Councilman Smart and Hett the meeting adjourned to Dec. 11 at 8.00 o'clock.

No Grouping of Voters.

However strongly some may be opposed to President Wilson and his policies with reference to certain matters, all good citizens must agree that he struck the right note in what he said to the labor men in Washington the other day regarding any and all attempts to divide the voters of the country into classes or groups. The occasion was a reception by the president to a delegation of the American Federation of Labor which called upon him to congratulate him upon his re-election, and in the course of his remarks he referred to the undesirable and the danger of any division of the voters into bodies other than those founded upon political conviction. He said: "What I have tried to do is to get rid of any class division in this country, any class consciousness and feeling. The worst thing that could happen to America would be that she should be divided into groups and camps in which there were men and women who thought that they were at odds with one another, that the spirit of America was not expressed except in them, and that possibilities of antagonism were the only thing we had to look forward to."

From this absolutely sound view there can be no dissension in any intelligent quarter. We not only want America first, but America united. Political parties there must be. Men will divide on matters of public policy and from such divisions good ensues, for they result in bringing all the facts to light and enabling the voters to form sound judgments. But divisions along any other lines are all wrong and every patriotic citizen will join President Wilson in deploring them.

Without doubt attempts in this direction in the recent campaign were what called out his remarks. All know that there were attempts to group voters on other than political lines. That these were far from being as successful as was expected was shown by the returns, but the attempts were made, and it is to be hoped they will never be repeated. There is no proper place in this country for a vote based on race, religion, labor or industry. The citizens should stand as a whole working for the good of all. On matters of public policy they will naturally divide and this is healthful, but there should be no other division of any kind.

This is a truth that all classes may well bear in mind. The American people are made up of elements from all parts of the world, but they are one people and as such they should go to the polls when called upon to discharge the most solemn obligation of citizenship.

The American Federation of Labor is right when it declares that "the wage set for definite work must be absolutely independent of the sex of the individual performing it." There is no good reason in the world why a woman should not be paid as much as a man for doing the same kind of work and as much of it. Henry Ford recognizes this principle, as the whole country must before it can rightfully claim to be Christian or fully civilized.

The women are coming to the front in more lines than one. A young woman started from Chicago the other day on a long distance, non-stop air flight and reached New York with only one stop, at Erie, N. Y. The performance puts her very prominently in the public eye for the time being, though for a long time it has been no secret that there are "high flyers" among the women as well as among the men.

It is well to provide for Christmas boxes for the regular soldiers along the border and for foreign sufferers so far as the people are able to do this. But it should not be done to the neglect of any little hungry and half clothed children around the corner. Even in these exciting times it will be well to remember that charity begins at home.

The hunters who do not have good luck in the woods may well expend some of their unused ammunition on the chicken thieves that are making trouble in various sections, as is apt to be the case at this time of the year. A charge of shot is none too good for the robber of a hen roost, animal or human.

An agricultural organization that is studying farm problems and the cost of living says there is no profit in producing eggs at 60 cents a dozen with grain at present prices. Not a very encouraging announcement for either the producers or consumers of eggs.

The deer hunting season in Massachusetts has led the farmers to put their young cattle where they know where they are. But the weather is such that this would have been proper, even if the hunters were not abroad.

Both parties are passing the hat to make up the deficits in their campaign expenses. In view of what was paid out as they went along, this shows that it still costs money to "run" a campaign.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Chauffeur of History
(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer)
More than a hundred years ago, in the Rhineland provinces on the borderland between France and Germany, there flourished a particularly atrocious variety of bandits. These desperadoes made a practice of holding the soles of their victims' feet in front of a fierce fire in order to force them to reveal the hiding places of their valuables. So they came to be known as "scorchers" or in French "chauffeurs." The most famous of these things was called "Schinderhannes," which is being interpreted, John the Scorchers. He was captured near Linburg in 1802 and executed in November the following year. The police had made a general roundup of chauffeurs by that time and a record was made at the execution. Twenty heads were chopped off in twenty-six minutes. After that the profession languished. Napoleon I was at the helm and the protagonists of this particular brand of brigandage appeared to be discouraged.

But while it lasted it was a great trade. Bands of these outlaws extended from Holland to the Danube; they had a language of their own—a jargon composed of French, German, Flemish and Hebrew. They had lines of communication through the country districts, and the posts on those lines were country taverns, the landlords of which were in league with the robbers. After a century had passed the French were in need of a term to apply to the driver of an automobile and with a certain historic humor they used the old "scorchers." The term was applied in derision and, of course, it is not closely applicable, but it has stuck. And though it is sometimes whispered that the professional chauffeurs of modern times adhere to the old traditions—that they are in league with the landlords of road houses and country taverns for the detention of passengers—yet no Schinderhannes has arisen among them and their depredations have not yet demanded wholesale execution. Considering his opportunities as a bandit, we must be grateful to the modern chauffeur for his forbearance.

The Mother of a General.
(From the New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser.)

One sees, printed in a newspaper, the picture of a little old lady, with scant white hair parted in the middle, drawn closely down over the ears, and surrounded by a neat little frilled cap which lies under the chin in a crisp broad bow. She holds in her hand the picture of a mustachioed man in military dress, and the headline says she is the mother of Mackensen, the German general.

A gentle old lady she looks; one wonders, rather, whether she glories in her son. Given her choice, would she have had him the great general or the smaller man of peace, unwarmed and unwarmed? Mothers are, of course, reactionaries; but granting her willingness to let him go, might she not still have wanted him rather the little man of peace than the great man of war?

Here is her little son, the tiny chap she rocked in her arms and held to her breast, the little chubby lad that played so gayly, the sober, earnest-eyed school boy, metamorphosed now into the man of iron—the fighting man. Here is he, he has become the desolator of Serbia, the giver of orders which have resulted in the death of hundreds and thousands of other mothers' sons. It may be that she believes her son is fighting not a war of conquest—that it is a great thing he does in fighting to protect the Fatherland. But in the presence of the bloody barbarity of the way it must be done is she able to keep doubt away?

She is the mother of a general and he has brought to her, the little old lady with the smoothly parted hair and the little frilled cap tied so trimly under her chin, fame of a sort. How, otherwise, would her picture ever have appeared in a newspaper here in far-away America? She is the mother of a great general, but is there not a prayer in her heart that some time in the dim future the mothers who are proudest of their sons will be—not mothers of great generals, but mothers of great men of peace?

Solving the Food Problem
(From the Detroit Free Press)

There appeared in a New York news paper the other day an article, written by Alfred W. McCann, pleading for a law to compel the storage of surplus food supplies. It is Mr. McCann's belief that such a storage system would operate as a check to high prices for food and keep down the cost of living. Only a few months ago orators and writers throughout the land were vociferously denouncing the storage of food products. They were saying that the plan produced artificial shortages and made high prices possible.

Thus we have the two sides to a very old and very vexatious problem. It is likely that these clashing views have been discussed ever since Joseph proposed to Pharaoh the storage of food in Egypt's years of plenty in preparation for famine times. In all the rolling centuries mankind has been talking over this matter, it never once has taken practical hold of it nor worked out a solution until the warring countries of Europe in taking charge of and parceling out food supplies have demonstrated how the thing may be done.

If it is possible under war conditions to hold down prices, properly conserve and distribute food supplies, it would

Judge Decides Adamson Law Is Unconstitutional

Judge William C. Hook.

United States Judge William C. Hook, in Kansas City, declared the Adamson law, passed at the last session of Congress for the benefit of the railroad brotherhoods, to be unconstitutional in a test case. He granted the injunction asked for by the receivers of the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad. The case will be hurried on to the Supreme Court of the United States.

seem equally possible to arrive at some practicable method of doing the same thing in times of peace, and this without resort to Socialism or paternalism of any stripe or kind. The time for giving this problem earnest consideration seems to have arrived in the United States. It has assumed an importance equal to tariff, preparedness and other first-rank problems of the time. All that is needed is a statesman who can formulate a proper solution and then put it strongly forward.

A Unique Opportunity
(From the Boston Transcript)

Our Washington correspondent calls attention today, in his political letter, to the unique opportunity which awaits Congressman-elect Fuller to carry the anti-pork mandate from his constituents to the floor of the House of Representatives. His candidacy as a crusader against political graft in Congress commanded a popular support far beyond the borders of the Ninth Congressional District. There was an immediate and general response in the press and among public men of all parties to his appeal for a popular endorsement of his pledge to do his bill as a congressman to check the raids of professional politicians upon the established service and upon the public treasury. A congressman ought to be more than the representative of his district; he ought to be also legislator for the nation. If the new congressman from the Ninth District discharges this twofold duty to the best of his ability, he will be heard from in Congress and he will be supported at home. The payment of political debts with public money and public office must end if "America first and America efficient" is to be translated from a campaign phrase into national performance.

A Comet Is Coming
(From the Brooklyn Standard-Union)

Will next summer be another "Comet Summer," like that of 1857? It is reported that a giant comet, of exceptional size and brilliancy, will be visible in the northwestern sky next spring and that it will be seen for three months, attaining its greatest brightness in June. This is not a return of Halley's Comet, which, when it reappeared a few years ago, was a great disappointment to those who watched its appearance. Probably a relation between the coming of the new comet and the end of the great war will be figured out by those who predicted neither.

Control of the Oil Supply
(From the Charleston News and Courier)

The navy must be assured of an abundant supply of oil for its vessels now and in the future. Oil has practically supplanted coal as a fleet fuel. The newest and finest foreign ships are oil burners, the newest and finest American vessels are designed to burn oil. That this country should revert to coal as its naval fuel is unthinkable because to do that would be to diminish incalculably the efficiency of the navy and its relative strength as compared with other navies.

Our source of oil supply must be within the borders of the United States. One of the most vital of England's problems arises from the fact that the British fleet must be supplied with oil largely from the Mexican fields and only the great superiority of the British fleet over its opponent enables it to keep open its communications with this source of supply. Our fleet is not large enough to rely upon an external source of supply because it could not be sure of keeping open its communications with such a source of supply.

In this situation the only question of real importance to the controversy over the California petroleum preserves is a question of fact. Will the

CURRENT OPINION

Personality In the Classroom, the Great Factor in Education.

Personality is the most vital factor in education. With the excellent courses of study outlined by the New York state board of regents we should have ten times greater results in teaching than are being attained. The wonderful modern school buildings, with their complete equipment, the painstaking oversight of supervisors and the standardization of studies count for little unless the teacher himself radiates the virile force of compelling personality in the classroom.

Nothing is the matter with the boy if you meet him halfway. Of course he isn't like his father. Times have changed, and boys change with them. If he is perhaps more difficult to control, to interest and to enthrall, certainly as educators we are or should be all the better prepared for the task. The plastic mind of youth is keenly and almost instantly susceptible to the influence of kindly personality, and if educators would aim first to make a friend and then a student, our task would be far less difficult.

Education needs no apologist. If educators do the fault is theirs. Instruction is not and never has been an exact science, yet we have progressed far along the road to knowledge.—By Thomas F. Clark, Educator.

Making Milk More Costly
(From the Springfield Union)
Ten cents a quart is the retail price fixed by the Springfield milk dealers, and this increase from the nine-cent rate is defended on the ground that an increased price is paid to the producer and that labor costs and other things have increased the cost of delivery. The increase of a cent a quart, it is explained, will just about cover the additional expenses entailed on the distributor. This sounds plausible, and it may be true, but how can the retailers explain the fact that while charging today ten cents a quart for milk when it is sold by the quart, they are also charging twelve cents a quart when it is sold by the pint? Does it cost three cents more to sell two pints of milk than to sell one quart of milk under the old? Charging six cents a pint is imposing a severe hardship on the small consumer, and there does not seem to be any sound reason for it. It puts the greater share of the burden on the very poor, those that cannot afford to buy milk by the quart. If there is any good reason why milk that is retailed at ten cents a quart cannot also be retailed at five cents a pint, a patient and long-suffering public would like to know what it is.

THE BRITANNIC SUNK IN AEGEAN SEA.

The great White Star liner Britannic, which has been a hospital ship in the service of the British government in the Aegean Sea, was sunk by a mine or torpedo while making a trip with wounded from Salonika. Some fifty or more of these on the same line tied up in Germany, as were saved.

The Britannic was one of the largest ships of the world. Her gross tonnage was 18,158. That of the Vaterland of the Hamburg-American Line, now tied up in Holyoke, N. J., is 64,000 tons, and the Imperator, another of the same line tied up in Germany, is 62,117 tons.

SAYS KIDNAPPING OF MISS FARMER CAUSED HER DEATH

The Concord Monitor in its account of the death of Miss Sarah J. Farmer, refers to the night kidnapping of the woman and adds the following note:

Miss Farmer's kidnapping by night, and taking from Portsmouth into Maine while her law case was pending in the New Hampshire supreme court, was one of the most outrageous wrongs in the history of such crimes. She was in a comfortable condition of body and mind, but the assault made her crazy and killed her.

Albert Tarlton

The remains of Albert Tarlton who died in New York City November 20, aged 65 years, arrived in this city on Wednesday forenoon for interment in Harmony Grove cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Parker.

VILLA ATTACKS CHIHUAHUA CITY BUT IS REPULSED

Leads His Force of 3,500 Men in Person.

Juarez, Mexico, Nov. 23.—Three times yesterday Francisco Villa attacked the first line trenches which defend Chihuahua City, and each time he was repulsed leaving his dead and wounded on the plains outside the city to the south, reports to military headquarters received by General Gonzalez here from the besieged city.

At 11 a. m. yesterday, mountain time, the high crowned hats of the bandits were seen to the south, along the Mexican Central main line, according to these messages. The battle was opened a few minutes later with a salvo of cannon on Santa Rosa hill, the key to the state capital.

The first and second trenches protected by barbed wire entanglements, took up the fighting and by noon a general engagement was in progress along the entire southern line, which continued the entire afternoon. At that time the booming of large calibre guns on Santa Rosa hill and other artillery stationed along the first line trenches was so deafening that it was almost impossible to hear the clatter of the tel graph instrument by the military operator in Chihuahua City told the military operator in Juarez.

Villa in person was leading his forces against the Carranza troops, according to reports received at the Juarez military headquarters from Chihuahua City, given out by Carranza officers. The bandit leader was said to be riding horseback with his clutch strapped to his saddle. He was said by the deficit authorities to have approximately 3,500 men, nearly all of whom are armed and mounted. He is also believed to have machine guns, but no heavy artillery. For this reason the 20 or more heavy field guns of General Trevino's command were able to make the advancing lines of Villa bandits, the message from the state capital stated.

The field was covered with dead and dying, one message said.

A sortie by Carranza cavalry covered by artillery, resulted in the capture of many Villa prisoners who were without ammunition and had gone since morning without food or water, another message declared.

The only cause of worry to Carranza officials is the fact that General Trevino's ammunition supply for the small arms and machine guns is limited. All the available ammunition has been sent from here and it is reported that a request has been made to American officials to permit American ammunition to be sent through the El Paso-Juarez port for General Trevino's forces.

CRASHED INTO OPEN SWITCH

New York, Nov. 21.—Between 25 and 30 persons were injured this morning when a heavily loaded south-bound elevator train crashed into an open switch in Harlem and came very near toppling over into the street.

The injured were rushed to nearby hospitals and some are reported in a serious condition.

DARTMOUTH
CARNIVAL DATES
ARE CHANGED

Winter Event Will Be Held
February 8 to 10.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 23—Announcement has just been made that the dates for the Dartmouth winter carnival has been changed from Feb.
15-17 to Feb. 8-10. This was caused by the conflict in dates with the Dartmouth Christian Association
evangelistic campaign. The sports this year will include besides the usual out-door events, a concert by the combined musical clubs, a hockey game Friday afternoon, and the big event of the carnival, the carnival dance in the evening.

On Saturday the basketball five will meet the team from the University of Pennsylvania and in the evening there will be a performance of the Dartmouth Dramatic Association in Webster hall. A supper dance for Thursday evening, similar to the one held last year, is being considered by the committee.

RISE IN WAGES
FOR AMOSKEAG
EMPLOYEES

Increase Substantially Same as Given in Other New England Cities.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 24—The Amoskeag Manufacturing Company has announced an increase in wages substantially the same in amount as given in the other textile cities of New England, to take effect on Monday, Dec. 4.

This is the third increase in wages in about one year, and is expected to have a beneficial effect upon local business at this time. About 13,000 operatives in the employ of the company will be affected.

The Amoskeag officials decided upon the increase at a meeting yesterday afternoon and notice will be posted in all the mills today.

The mill operatives were awaiting news of the increase and received it with great satisfaction. The recent rise in the prices of foodstuffs had nullified much of what was given previously in the way of increases. Instead, but this raise will restore what was lost and will enable them to expend more freely for the Christmas season.

The increases each time have been substantial and amount to more than was granted for many years previously.

LOSE GREAT BATTLESHIP

Dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria Sunk by Explosion.

Petrograd, Nov. 24, via London.—
Russia officially announced the loss of the dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria of 22,500 tons. A statement issued tonight read:

"The Russian dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria has been sunk by an internal explosion. Two hundred of the crew are missing.

The Russian naval staff says a Reuter despatch from Petrograd, has issued the following statement:

"At 6 o'clock on October 20, fire broke out in the forward magazine of the Imperatritsa Maria. An internal explosion followed immediately, and the fire spread rapidly and reached the patrol tanks.

"The officers and crew strived with the utmost bravery to localize the effect of the explosion and flood the magazines. The commander-in-chief Vice Admiral Kischak, went aboard and took personal command of the operations.

"Shortly after 7 o'clock however, the vessel sank. The greater part of the crew were saved. An officer and two first class sub-officers and 149 sailors are missing. Sixty-four of the crew have since died from the effects of the burns.

"The position of the ship which lies in shallow water gives hope that it may be refloated and completely repaired in a few months. The bridge is only a few feet below water level."

Early in November a report was in circulation that the Imperatritsa Maria had gone to the bottom and that nearly all of her crew had perished.
Later, on November 11, Berlin reported by wireless that a Bulgarian headquarters despatch announced that a fireman on the battleship had reached the Bulgarian coast and confirmed the destruction of the dreadnaught, which it was stated had been sunk by a mine near Sulina or Feodosia island at the mouth of the Danube.

The Imperatritsa Maria was a new dreadnaught. She was launched in 1914 and displaced 22,500 tons. Her officers and crew numbered about 1000 men. The vessel was 550 feet long and had a draught of 27 feet. She was armed with 10 12-inch, 20 5-inch and four 2.5 inch guns and four 3-pounders and four torpedo tubes.

Editor:

Once more I wish to call the attention of the Grand Army, Spanish-American War Veterans, other patriotic organizations and the city council to the matter of some historic armament for the several public parks of Portsmouth.

In this matter it is must be said that Portsmouth is not showing the interest of much smaller cities and towns. For twenty-five years or more the government has been continually giving away old guns, shells, etc., from the Portsmouth navy yard to patriotic organizations in all parts of the country for decorative purposes. Who would think Portsmouth played any part in the cause of the Union or the war of 1898? Not a relic of either war can be seen in any public place in the historic city rich with army and navy history.

Only a few more of the relics remain and if Portsmouth wants some of them, some person or organization should make it known to the secretary of the navy. It seems a lack of patriotism on our part to sit idly by and not exert ourselves in securing these park decorations when the only expense is a matter of transportation across the river and even that might be eliminated by the right kind of an appeal to the government. Why not act before it is too late?

PATRIOT.

The Acorn
18 Market Square. Portsmouth, N. H.

"Talk about little stores that grow," said a patron a few days since,
"why, it is only a little more than a year since some of us, having been in your first shop, agreed that it was a fine thing for Portsmouth to have such a shop, but we doubted if it could be kept alive. Now, here you are right in The Square, and with many times as large a stock, and from all appearances, not only have kept alive, but are having a good healthy growth. How has it been brought about?"

In reply we said it was only because we believed that the people of Portsmouth wanted a place where they would feel that they would get not only the best things in books and stationery, but that they could also get accurate information as to books, their value, and at what prices the various editions could be had, and having offered them such service, they have seen its value and have availed themselves of the opportunity offered.

MEXICAN MERCHANT TELLS OF CHAOS

Los Angeles, Nov. 23.—A graphic story, illustrating the chaotic conditions prevailing in Mexico, is told by Senor Augustin Morales, formerly a prosperous manufacturer of vegetable oils at Morelia, Michoacan, which adjoins Mexico province. Morales has just joined the Mexican refugee colony in Los Angeles with his wife and two children.

"There can be no hope of peace in Mexico until a strong hand seizes the reins of government and suppresses a multitude of great and petty chieftains who are spreading ruin and devastation, murdering and torturing a helpless people with no other object than self-aggrandizement and self-enrichment," said Morales.

"The oil business that I had in Morelia was handed down to me by my father. It had been in our family for generations. But there came the revolution. I was neither a Maderista, a Villista, a Zapalista nor a Carranzista. I was, and am, a pacifist. And so I was made to face death again and again."

"My native state of Michoacan is one of the districts which have suffered most by the revolutions. One day there came marching into Pantofa with an armed force of men a leader who called himself General Pantofa. He commanded every automobile in the city. I ventured to protest, but that the machine was needed in my business and that, owing to the condition of the country, I could scarcely procure another. Pantofa ordered me thrown into jail immediately, and I was forthwith sentenced to be hanged. But I had with me an old schoolmate, Domingo Samano, and he and Pantofa happened to be friendly. Samano obtained my release, but he dared not ask the restitution of the automobile. I was being led out to be executed when the order to set me free arrived."

"One of the conditions of my liberation was that I order a number of tires for the machine. I did so, but traffic on the railways was interrupted at times and always uncertain. Pantofa wearied of waiting for the tires, and in order to expedite their arrival, he had me thrown into jail again, and once more sentenced to be hanged. I managed to read word of my plight to Samano on his ranch at Pumanidiro, and once more his intervention saved me. You see, senor, it is all a matter of drag with those people, but there are so many of them that one cannot have friends who know them all, and in the end comes one who brings ruin and death."

"General Pantofa was killed in a battle shortly after that, but my troubles were not yet over. There came a General Sanchez one afternoon. He called the 500 members of the Chamber of Commerce of Morelia together and ordered us to give him 60,000 pesos before sundown. The banks had been looted and we found it impossible to raise such a large sum in so short a time. Sanchez ordered the arrest and execution by a firing squad of the last man of us. But another band of revolutionists was approaching and Sanchez needed all his ammunition. He left in such a hurry that we were forgotten and managed to get out of jail. I was resting in my home one evening when some revolutionists called me out and showed me my old automobile in front of the door. It was a wreck. They ordered me to repair the mechanism immediately. I looked in the tool box and found it empty. I explained to them that the trouble might easily be righted with the necessary tools, but that I could not do it with my bare hands. Less than an hour later I was standing with my back against a blank wall and before me were a squad of soldiers with rifles and a man with a sword about to give the order to fire, when friends ran up with a pardon they had obtained by providing the needed wrenches and tightening a few loose bolts.

"Sanchez, too, has been killed, but there are others—these generals are now all ignorant men, like the politicians, seeing only money and power, and the people are those who suffer."

"Don't you think, Mr. Morales," he was asked, "that American intervention would be for the best?"

"Ah, senor," he answered dismally, "the pride of nationalism is deep-rooted, and it is hard to bring oneself to say yes, but I sometimes think so. Perhaps if your government would only give full recognition to one of the leaders, either Carranza or Villa, and quit turning from one to the other, furnishing arms and ammunition for our murdering, then peace might come."

BOWLING

Portsmouth Wine Clerks Cleaned Up

On the Arcade Alleys last evening the Portsmouth wine clerks defeated the Dover wine clerks in a first game, taking all four points. The home talent out-rolled the visitors almost man for man and took the total pinfall by a margin of 110.

For the winners Dugan was high man with a total of 268. Quinlan of Dover rolled the same score for high for the visitors. The summary:

MISSPELLED NAME MAY PREVENT A WILSON VOTE

LAWRENCE M. CONNOR'S NAME APPEARED AS LAWRENCE A.
CONNOR ON BALLOTS IN HILLSBOROUGH COUNTY

A peculiar and interesting complication has arisen in the Hillsborough county vote for Democratic presidential electors. The name of Lawrence M. Connor is spelled "Lawrence A. Connor." It is only in this county that the mistake is made.

Several questions have arisen, and nobody appears able to make any satisfactory decision as to what should be done, or what authority should decide. Among the queries these occur:

Would the mistake throw out the entire county presidential vote?

Would the vote stand as it is, the fact that the intentions of voters were for the entire body of Democratic electors being taken as granted?

Will the mistake result in only three Democratic presidential electors for New Hampshire?

When the question was put up to the authorities at Concord it was frankly admitted that the exact course of procedure was a problem. Already several complications have arisen in the matter of the state vote which have been put up to superior court judges, and the court does not deem it wise to make any hasty decision.

If, in the matter of the close vote of the state for the presidential electors the "Lawrence A. Connor" mistake should make any difference, it is understood that the United States senate would be the final tribunal to make decision.

As it stands today, the presumption is that the voters intended to vote for Lawrence M. Connor, and the intentions would stand in support of the claim of inexperience to make a protest.

Germans Ready for Trade War After Great War

HENRY H. MORGAN

Henry H. Morgan, United States consul at Hamburg, says Germany is prepared for a trade war when the great war ends. Should the allies combine against her, they will find her bankers and manufacturers so well organized, he says, that they will have a hard fight. Particularly does Germany expect to do a large business with the United States, despite hard feelings that may have been engendered during the war.

LORD ROBERTS ON WAR.

"This war," wrote the late Lord Roberts, in an essay now given to the world, "was virtually necessary to all the nations engaged in it." Not only necessary, but salutary. Europe had, it seems, arrived at a stage of "over-civilization," of "anemia," of "degeneration," from which war alone could rescue it. The symptoms of this over-civilization are as follows: "The labor market becomes unsettled, demagogues seize every opportunity to show their strength, and labor is organized against capital. Trades unions, finding weakness pitted against them, commence to bully. All the tendencies of efficiency, perversion and national carelessness set in one after another. Politicians demand pay for services which should be patriotically given to the nation; men and women and children seek out of conforming to the religious observances of a former generation; all men begin to live above their incomes; a grotesque extravagance in women's dress follows; schoolboys and undergraduates think it necessary to begin where their fathers left off; a political corruption begins to be the smart thing." Hence Germany, in precipitating this war "is the Allies' best friend." And this war is not to be the last. "It will come again with the swing of the pendulum. It is salutary, necessary, and is the only national tonic that can be prescribed."

The English people have the misfortune that Lord Roberts was a defender of their homes and lives. They were not aware that to him their home and lives were not worth preserving. They would have been surprised to learn that strikes and

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of lime-juice phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infect the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good all day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts
if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissue, clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is irritating, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

JURY CASES NEARING END FOR SESSION

LAST OF CIVIL CASES IN SUPERIOR COURT STARTED YESTERDAY AND WILL BE COMPLETED THIS AFTERNOON.

The last of the jury cases in this term of the Superior court, is being heard before Judge Chamberlain. It is an action for damages brought by Mrs. Carrie Rand, wife of Fred Rand of Sagamore Creek against John Watson of Sanford, Me., to recover for alleged injuries received on Oct. 26, 1915, when a carriage in which Mrs. Rand was driving, was struck by an automobile at the corner of State and Fleet streets.

The jury after the opening of the case took a view of the scene of the accident and the evidence was started Thursday morning. The plaintiff closed shortly before 3 o'clock and the defense at once started with the testimony of Mrs. J. H. Neal and M. A. Higgins. The case will take the greater part of today.

Thursday afternoon the remainder of the jury were discharged from further service at this term of court. Judge Chamberlain will devote next week and the first week in December to court cases.

HOLD INFORMAL EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE

To the Editor—Perhaps you will be interested in this account:

Fifteen Maine school folk met in Elliot High school for an informal educational conference. Superintendent Hyman Allen invited me to attend this conference yesterday afternoon. It was the only New Hampshire delegate (there for inter-state courtesies). Maine State Inspector of High Schools Josiah W. Taylor led the meeting, which was informal. Questions were asked and these latest educational problems were discussed: Supervised Study; Afternoon Sessions; Teachers' Aims in Various Studies; Presentation Lessons (how much shall the teacher help the pupil in understanding the lesson of the next day before it is recited upon in class?); Individual Programs for Study-Work; Home Study, etc.

Some teachers present were: Principal and Mrs. L'Amoureux, Miss Virginia Mabry and Miss Converse of Trapp Academy; Principal Gray of Herwick Academy; Sup't. Hyman Allen of Elliot; several York High School teachers, and myself.

The Maine State High School inspector, Mr. Taylor, accompanied me to this city after the conference and was at the Kennebec last night. He was on his way to an educational meeting today in Boston.

NAVY YARD AT BOSTON NOT IN NEW PLANS

NO ENLARGEMENT IN EQUIPMENT OR BUILDING PLANS PROVIDED IN SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT BY SECRETARY.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Boston does not figure in the announced plans for the enlargement of navy yards to take care of new construction, according to a statement by Secretary Daniels, although on "high authority" it is learned that the Charleston yard may be extended to build battle cruisers. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt is authority for the statement that the department feels that the Boston yard is as large as it can be, but that if the price of land were lower an enlargement would be desirable. Boston apparently has been left out in the cold till every other navy yard is filled to capacity.

Island for New York Harbor
The $5,000,000 available immediately represents only a small part of the money to be spent ultimately in developing and enlarging the navy's shore stations. Some idea of the scale on which the Government is considering preparing itself to build and repair ships, as well as an indication of probable radical changes in the present navy yard system, was given by the House Naval Committee yesterday by Rear Admiral Harris, chief of the bureau of yards and docks.

Various plans are being held up pending a report from the board of officers under Rear Admiral Hehn, now studying the Navy Yard problem by authority of Congress. One project which the board already has discussed contemplates a separation of the military and industrial activities at the New York and Mare Island yards and the virtual rebuilding of the Norfolk plant. The tentative scheme for New York, it is understood, contemplates the separation of all activities directly connected with the fleet from the present yard and the establishment of a fleet base with proper storehouse, docking and repair facilities on an island to be created just south of the Statue of Liberty in the lower harbor. The old yard probably would be continued purely as an industrial plant.

A similar plan is proposed for Mare Island, a fleet base being established on San Francisco bay while the present yard with its expensive equipment would be continued for construction and repairs. The project calls for an expenditure of $25,000,000 on the new base, it is understood, while it would cost $75,000,000 to abolish the Mare Island plant and make an entirely new station for all purposes on the lower bay where greater depth of water can be obtained.

Admiral Harris said that in his judgment every yard now in existence would be needed to care for the new navy construction which Congress has already authorized. It will be necessary, he added, to improve these to the limit of their present capacity whatever else is done in the way of establishing new yards or bases.

The project for the Norfolk yard already is under way and of $15,000,000 required to complete it, nearly one-third has been supplied already. In this connection, Admiral Harris said that the department was considering the purchase of the Jamestown Exposition tract for the establishment of new aviation and submarine training schools.

WHAT GOES INTO SAUSAGES

Raid by Boston Health Inspectors Discloses Use of Decayed Meat by Sausage Makers.

Boston, Nov. 23.—Almost a ton of tubercular lungs and putrid bovine meat was seized by state health inspectors in the recent raid which was followed by the arrest of Philip Katz, a Brooklyn slaughterer.

Katz pleaded not guilty in Brooklyn police court today to a charge of selling adulterated meat. He will be given a hearing Dec. 3.

Dr. George L. Drury, one of the inspectors who took part in the raid, said today that Boston is a central point for the manufacture of common sausage, blood sausage and blood pudding, from diseased meat.

Allan J. McLaughlin, state health commissioner, is determined that such business must be destroyed, and it was learned today that he has ordered his staff of inspectors to obtain the co-operation of local authorities in a statewide effort to put an end to the diseased meat business. Instructions have been issued to the effect that condemned meat must be destroyed as soon as possible, as some dealers have been known to recover meat after it had been condemned and thrown aside by inspectors, and then use it.

"In this raid we seized about 1793 pounds of tubercular lungs and smelly, putrid meat," Dr. Drury said. Katz said he was going to feed all of it to hogs, except one barrel which he asserted was all right. We condemned that barrel too, and sent the whole business to a tallow company.

"These lungs contain no nutrition but as they are spongy they are used to fill out sausages. Such diseased meat is pickled by the manufacturers, and after it is baked and colored it is very difficult to obtain evidence showing it was diseased."

SCORES BRITISH FOOD WASTE

Christmas Menus in Hotels Extravagant Even in Peace Times, Scandalous in War—All Must be Drastically Cut Down, Board of Trade Demands

London, Nov. 23.—Walter Humeiman, president of the Board of Trade, addressing a meeting of leading London hotel keepers, demanded an immediate curtailment of menus. He declared that there must be an immediate and drastic cutting down and a decrease in the use of imported foods.

"I have just seen," he said, "a specimen of a Christmas menu which is being circulated as an advertisement by a leading London hotel. Such an elaborate program would be wasteful even in peacetime and is little short of scandalous in war time. Such a situation cannot be allowed. All menus must be drastically cut down and there must be one or two fishless and meatless days weekly. There must be an immediate decrease in the use of imported foods. Waste is especially noticeable in the use of expensive cakes and confections. If the trade interests will not take the necessary action the Government must force them to do so."

Following the meeting the Savoy Hotel announced the cancellation of its special Christmas and New Year dinners.

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD

It is good news for Portsmouth and for New Hampshire that the Portsmouth navy yard is one of the five on which the $5,000,000 appropriated by congress last summer will be spent. Considering the fact that Portsmouth has one of the most secure and commodious harbors in the United States into which ships of any size or burden may enter with perfect safety, one might be tempted to ask oneself why the Portsmouth navy yard, like that at Charleston, South Carolina has been selected to be equipped for handling gunboats, submarines and other smaller craft, while the Norfolk and Philadelphia yards have been designated for the construction of capital ships and the Boston and Bremerton yards to be enlarged for the building and repairing of vessels up to 10,000 or 12,000 tons; but that is a matter which has to be considered from the naval point of view, and not exclusively from that of harbor facilities, the point is that the Portsmouth yard comes in for a share of the initial expenditures of a prodigious amount of money—of which the present $5,000,000, is but a small part—to be devoted ultimately to the development and enlargement of the navy's shore stations.

This is quite different from the proposition more than once rumored for political or other purposes, to abolish the Portsmouth yard. It is wiser and more in keeping with the idea of efficiency. The Portsmouth navy yard always has been classed as admirably situated for its object. It is protected by nature from the ravages of the northeast storms, and can very easily be rendered inaccessible to enemies. Its splendid advantages were a matter of constant recognition at least seventy-five years ago, and even then congress was liberal in its appropriations for the Portsmouth yard. Many a celebrated ship has been built at Portsmouth. It was there in 1690, that the Pallad of 51 guns, was built by order of the British government, and she was launched in 1719, by the American of 50 guns. The famous Ranger of 18 guns, was turned out there in 1777, by order of the Continental congress, and was commanded on her first cruise by John Paul Jones. The ship was the first to carry the Stars and Stripes and to receive a salute. There, also, the keel of the frigate Congress was laid in 1837. The history of this yard is inseparably linked with the early history of the country. There is every indication that it will continue to contribute much to the nation's development; all of which is by no means the less gratifying in that it means, incidentally, for many Maine and New Hampshire men—Manchester Union.

BOLDLY SAYS HE INTENDS TO BLEED PUBLIC

MAN WHO CONTROLS 72,000,000 EGGS DEFIES U. S. PROBERS AND EVERYBODY ELSE.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—James E. Wetzel, who admits he is the egg king of the United States, may find his throne tottering when U. S. Dist. Atty. Charles C. Hughes files his food probe. Wetzel, after admitting that he controlled 72,000,000 eggs and could swing the price as he saw fit, said:

"Well, what are they going to do about it?"
"Last year the public said I was a fool for speculating in eggs," said Wetzel, "and this year I am called a criminal. Did anyone accuse me of being a manipulator last year when I got along with the rest?"
"This is the brokers' year and as for me, I am going to sit tight and watch the prices climb up and the public can pay—I am going to square up accounts for last year."

Wetzel said he defies investigations, legislation or otherwise, to bring down the price of eggs.
Wetzel bought most of his eggs last spring. The 6,000,000 dozen were bought at an average price of 20 cents. The average wholesale price today is 10 cents. His book profit today is more than $1,000,000.

STAGE WEDDING WILL GO ON

Portland Ministers Surprised at Action of Biddeford Clergy.

The stage wedding of Miss Alma M. Jenkins an actress with the Strand Musical company, and Henry A. Ward, a soldier in the Coast Artillery will take place tonight at the Central Theatre, Biddeford, regardless of the protest of the clergy of that city and will be performed by a clergyman, the Rev. George F. Deagan, of Portland, an Episcopalian, who is chaplain of the Actors' Church Alliance.

Mr. Deagan was engaged to perform the ceremony after Miss Jenkins received a letter from him, offering his services if she desired to have them. He stated that he did not wish to officiate if she had engaged anyone else or if his offer would in any way interfere with her plans.

Mr. Deagan's letter is not for publication but a part of it is permitted to be quoted, as follows:

"After reading the protest of the ministers of Biddeford, I must confess I am at a loss to understand on what grounds it is based. I cannot see that a wedding in a theatre is any more immoral than a wedding in a hall or private house. As an Episcopalian minister and local chaplain of the Actors' Church Alliance, I beg to say if I can be of any service to you, I shall be glad to do so."

"This is merely an expression of my feeling toward what seems to me an unwarranted reflection on the theatrical profession."

One hundred soldiers will be present at the ceremony.

Another letter from a Congregational church minister in Portland was sent to the manager of the theatre in which he says:

"I was very much surprised to read in the Portland Express that the ministers of Biddeford had petitioned the mayor of your city to prevent the marriage ceremony to be performed at the Central Theatre, Friday evening."

"I dare say not one of them would have objected to the wedding taking place in the church over which he presides and have advertised it as an attraction, and I can see no reason why such a ceremony should not take place in the theatre."

"Such narrowness on the part of ministers should be rebuked. The theatre has a place in modern life and when the church will recognize that right and patronize clean, uplifting entertainment, I believe the management will be glad to furnish that kind of entertainment."

"I am glad that the ceremony is to take place and wish to congratulate you and extend best wishes to the groom and bride-elect."

Sincerely yours,
William H. Mousley.

The "Cress Club" is mellow in color, a shade darker than a chummy brier pipe. Mellow in feel, like a glove. One of the few soft leathers strong enough for hard wear. If you want a good sound shoe this fall, come in and ask to see the "Cress Club."

BIG PYTHIAN CONVENTION AT BERWICK

Constitution Lodge, No. 88, K. of P., of Kittery. Confers Rank of Page.

Despite the inclement weather on Thursday evening, sixty members of Constitution Lodge, No. 88, of Kittery, and Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythians, of this city, went to Berwick to attend the York County convention and district meeting with Hathbone Lodge, No. 65. The trip was made in special electric cars and the journey both to and from the Maine town was enlivened with vocal and instrumental music. On the arrival at Berwick the local contingent swelled the gathering up to over two hundred, a special train having brought nearly a hundred from Biddeford, Saco, Kennebunk and other points.

The rank staff of Constitution Lodge, under the direction of Drill Master Fred W. Cross, conferred the rank of Page on three candidates and their excellent work was highly commended by all present.

The rank of Knight was conferred in long form by Myrtle Lodge, No. 19, of Kennebunk, and the work of the officers and floor team also came in for a liberal share of praise.

District Deputy Charles Hurst of Berwick presided over the convention and among the prominent guests were Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Edgar J. Brown of Waterville and Grand Vice Chancellor James E. Marshall of Dover, both of whom made interesting remarks.

Visiting Knights were present from Biddeford, Saco, Sanford, Kennebunk, South Berwick, Kittery, Dover, Somersworth, Rochester, Portsmouth and many other places.

During the evening the Pythian Sisters served a most excellent supper in the banquet hall.

The Portsmouth-Kittery delegation arrived home at 1:30 o'clock this Friday morning, well satisfied with the trip and reception accorded them by the members of Hathbone Lodge.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the permanent men of the fire department are all smiling today.

That the increase of pay ought to be the means of keeping good men in the service.

That the city would save twice as much as the increase amounts to every year if the fire stations were combined and the apparatus quarantined at one central station.

That the lighting, heating, general upkeep of four different stations in this city is absolutely unnecessary and a useless expenditure of money.

That the sooner this is remedied the better for Portsmouth.

That the L. B. A. C. voted on Thursday night to put on another musical show.

That some of the Democrats are talking of certain young men for the city council.

That some of them mentioned have just reached the voting age.

That they must realize that electing a man to spend the taxpayers' money and run a city is something besides a joke.

That it would work against any party that attempted to put a juvenile delegation in the chair of the council chamber.

That the Democrats of Kittery went to Newmarket the other night to join in the jollification meeting and parade.

That they took the Wilson majority banner with them but came back without it.

That the question is, why did it disappear and where did it go?

That some of the natives say they saw it floating in the river the next day.

That it might possibly be located in Great Bay.

That the party leaders say they may hunt it up for a souvenir.

That the Crescent A. C. is coming into the sporting world again with a basketball team.

That the members hope to get one or more games with girls teams at Wadleigh's Mills.

That the painters are touching up the cell room of the police headquarters.

That many a boy considers himself ridiculous in the eyes of other boys when a woman picks out his clothes.

That champagne corks are worth $3 a thousand.

That nearly every pretty girl can thump a piano but the homely ones make the best cooks.

That the high cost of courting is figuring now among expensive luxuries.

That a fitted swimsuit in the vest is selling a fair lady for $30.00, charging $5.00 to courtship expenses.

That the wooling period extended over only a little more than four months, and the disappointed lover laments his waste of time at $7 a day, aside from presents and other expenses.

That many a man talks about gold cash when it is burning a hole in his pocket.

FOR BIG VICTORY TWO YEARS HENCE

New Hampshire a Republican State, Says Senator
Gallinger.

Editor of the Herald:

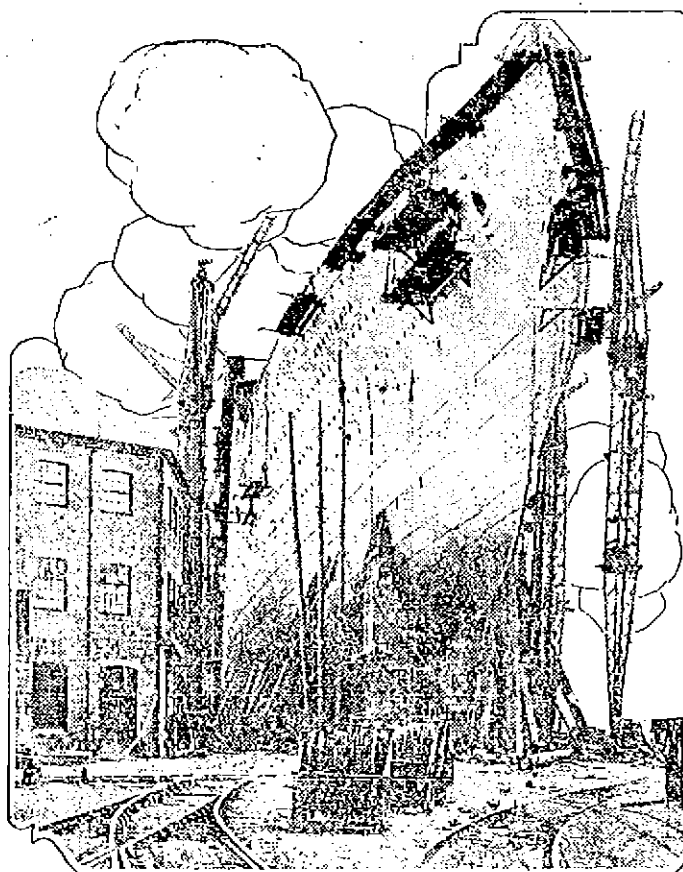

It has been a matter of ignorance to me to observe that because of the fact that the unfortunate vote in New Hampshire on the electoral ticket appears to be slightly in favor of the Democratic party the impression has gone to the country that at the election this year New Hampshire had voted in favor of the principles of the Democracy. It is well to keep in mind the fact that New Hampshire was originally a rock-ribbed Democratic state, governed and controlled by such men as Isaac Hill, Franklin Pierce, and other strong Democrats of their day. When the Civil war came New Hampshire broke away from its Democratic environment, and placed itself in the Republican column, but it should also be kept in mind that even in those perilous days, the Republicans had to fight constantly to keep themselves in power.

It is also interesting to note that commencing with 1875, the party has in many instances, barely escaped from defeat, and in two cases Democratic governors were elected. Looking back over 30 years I find that in 1875 the Republican plurality for governor was only 127; in 1876, 3,028; in 1877, 4,034; in 1878, 512, and in the second election that year under the amended constitution the plurality was 3,740; in 1880, the plurality was 3,619; in 1882, 1,196; in 1884, 2,877; in 1886, 501; in 1888, 502; in 1890, 93; in 1892, 2,275; in 1894, 12,542; in 1896, the year that the Democratic party repudiated Bryan and Bryanism, the Republican plurality was 20,031; in 1898, it was 5,027; in 1900, 18,035; in 1902, 2,271; in 1904, 15,731, in the last named two years, Henry H. Hobbie being the Democratic candidate. In 1906 the plurality was 2,090; in 1908, 3,212; in 1910, 7,171. In 1912 the Democratic plurality was 1,590, and in 1914 the Republican plurality due to the weakness of the Democratic candidate, was 12,730.

From the above figures it appears that while the plurality at the different elections were somewhat due to the popularity or unpopularity of the candidates, the state has narrowly escaped in many cases from going over to the Democratic party, and the result of the last election conclusively prove what the party is stronger today than it has been in a majority of the cases during the last thirty years.

It is interesting to note in this connection that in 1875 when Person C. Cheney was the Republican candidate for governor, in 1878 when Benjamin F. Prescott was the Republican candidate, and in 1906 when Charles M. Floyd was the Republican candidate, all of whom were strong men the election went to the house of representatives, the constitution at that time

RESTORE AMERICAN FLAG TO SEAS, SAY GEORGIANS

GOVERNOR

REPRESENTATIVE AKIN.

A determined group of Georgian men are going ahead with their plans to put the American flag on the seas regardless of anything that Uncle Sam may or may not do, and undismayed by an initial set back on election day.

Official reports show that the amendment to exempt Georgian owned ships from taxation was defeated by the narrow margin of 2032 votes on election day. It is planned to re-submit the measure, with a further provision to exempt all ship building properties from taxes, thus permitting ships to be built and operated much more cheaply than at present.

Gov. Nat E. Harris, who signed the first exemption bill, foresees a great awakening in Georgia commerce as the result of these measures when finally successful. Southern products, especially cotton, will find a ready outlet.

At its inception, however, the bill was looked upon as a mere local favor to the seaport constituencies. Representative I. R. Akin, who fathered the idea, comes from the thriving coast city of Brunswick, while three Savannah members, Shelby Myrick, H. C. Shuptrine and S. M. Jackson, largely sponsored the measure just approved.

It is now recognized that the measure will have much more than local importance. Existing ship companies will have a strong incentive to seek Georgia incorporation and Georgia registry for their ships. With southern steel produced most economically close at hand, Georgia's tax free ship yards menace the supremacy of Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Boston as ship building centers, unless competition forces similar amendment to the tax laws of northern states.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy,
for colds, bad breath,
sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salt, castor oil or dangerous cathartics, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary. They move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give Cascarets, for feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.

Since the electoral vote the state has shown any tendency whatever to accept the policies of the Democratic party.

It was my privilege to be chairman of the Republican state committee for 18 years, and notwithstanding the party had an organization so perfect that other states were glad to copy it, I have a very vivid recollection of the tremendous efforts that were necessary to keep the Republican party in power, and in view of the experience it pleases me to see that the result of the last election has proved that the party is still strong enough to easily defeat its opponents. I cannot agree with much that is being printed even in New Hampshire Republican newspapers to the effect that the result proves that the Democratic campaign was better managed than the Republican campaign, nor can I agree with the criticisms that have been made in certain quarters regarding the officers of the Republican state committee.

The fact is that the future of the Republican party in this state is absolutely secure, if wise counsels prevail and unpopulism is avoided, former difficulties being forgotten for the good of the cause. In connection with the campaign of this year it should also be kept in mind that while New Hampshire has during the past thirty years elected a considerable number of Democrats to the national house of representatives, the state will be represented in the next congress by two stalwart Republicans, whose plurality, all things considered ought to satisfy the most exacting. All that remains for New Hampshire Republicans to do is to keep up good courage and prepare for a victory two years hence, which will keep the state government in the hands of the Republican party, and instead of adding another Democrat to the membership of the United States senate will supplant the Democrat who now holds a seat in that body with a good Republican. It can easily be done if all Republicans do their duty. Respectively yours,

J. H. GALLINGER,
Concord, N. H., Nov. 23, 1916.

GORDON SELFRIDGE

The success of Gordon Selfridge in showing London how to run an American department store has been so great that he has now bought a real old British castle, where Kaiser Wilhelm was housed when he was a better friend of Britain than now.

He has just taken the property known as Highcliffe Castle and his estate on the Solent in Hampshire. Mr. Selfridge started as a poor boy in Wisconsin and later became one of the great department store keepers of Chicago. He sold out all his interests and

THE JOURNEY OF LIFE.

Beneath the waning moon I walk at night
And muse on human life—for all around
Are dim uncertain shapes that cheat the sight,
And pitfalls lurk in shade along the ground,
And broken gleams of brightness here and there
Glance through and leave unwarmed the death-like air.

The thumped cart returns a sound of fear—
A hollow sound as if I walked on bombs;
And lights that tell of cheerful hours appear Far off, and die like hope among the blooms,

A mournful wind across the landscape flies.

And I, with faltering footsteps journey on,
Watching the stars that roll the hours away.
Till the faint light that guides me now is gone,
And like another life, the glorious day
Shall open o'er me from the empyreal height,
With warmth and certainty and boundless light.

The Standard of Value and Quality

Do You Know of a Better Investment?

If you were entirely satisfied that a certain high grade security would substantially increase in value during the next sixty days—would you purchase it?

Yes?
Well, then, why not consider the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" in precisely the same light?

It is only a matter of weeks now before the price of this famous model will be increased.

Do you know of any better way to invest $1375 with absolute certainty of profits in money and personal satisfaction?

As you know, the costs of material and labor have jumped skyward during the past year. To meet this condition, we must charge more for our product—because we positively refuse to sacrifice quality no matter what the commodity prices may be.

So, as a clean-cut business proposition, can you afford to overlook such a rare opportunity?

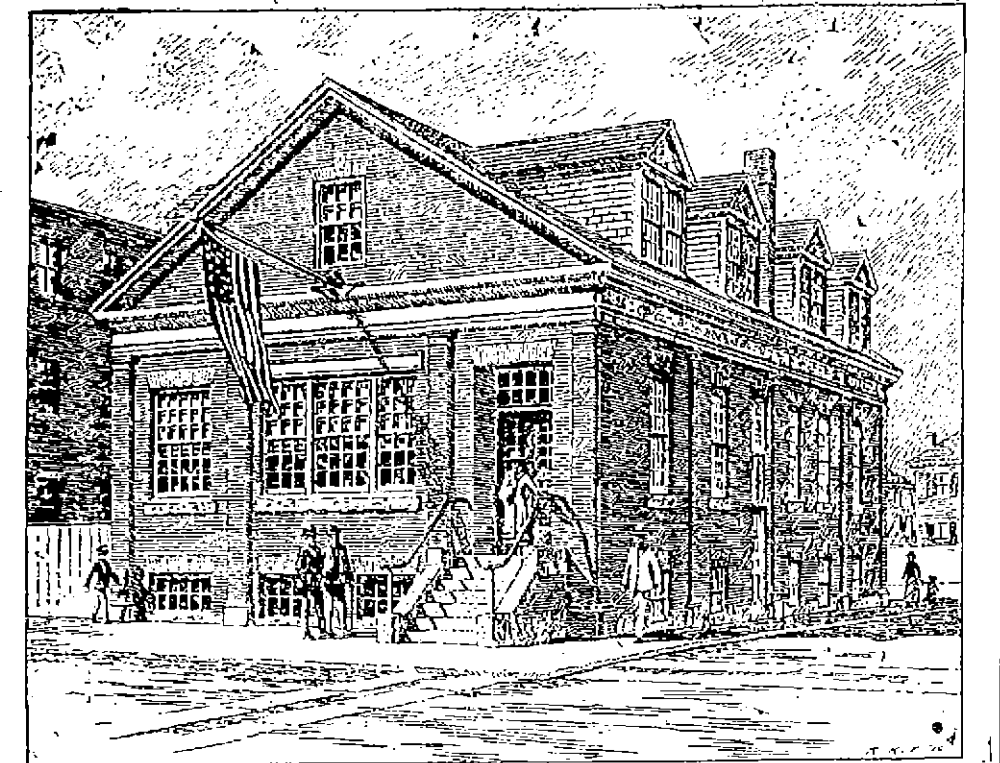

Remember, the Paige Company challenges any manufacturer in the industry to produce a car—within three hundred dollars of the Paige price—which offers as much luxury, comfort and all around dependability as the Fairfield "Six-46." This challenge stands uncontested.

IMPROVEMENTS TO TELEPHONE BUILDING HAVE BEEN NUMEROUS

Latest Addition Will Make Great Difference in Appearance of Central Office, a Credit to the City and Company

Work on the addition to the Central Office of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., is progressing rapidly and Manager Drew said today that the contractors expect to finish their work about Feb. 1st. This addition has been made necessary by the development in the telephone business in Portsmouth during the last year or so. There are now over 3100 telephones in the city. Among the changes will be the construction of a second story, additions to the switchboard and a general renovating of the interior.

Manager Drew's commercial office will be enlarged and on the second floor there will be a sitting room for the operators, a lunch room, locker room and toilet. The pitched roof will be broken by eight dormer windows. The present windows will be replaced with wire glass windows, and on the southeasterly side rolling steel shutters will be placed that can be operated automatically in case of fire.

"But," said Manager Drew today, "the alterations to our building and the additions to our Central Office will show the latest improvement equipment constitute only a part of the several which have been made the improvement planned for Portsmouth on Vaughan St. buildings during the month. Underground construction is just few years. The telephone company already being placed through Fleet, Main, in making this addition, are ad-Court, and Pleasant streets, and later doing greatly to the value of their underground construction will be ex-pertly and much to the appearance of the building along Middle St., Lafayette St. and the city.

BUSINESS OF EPISCOPAL CONVENTION AT CONCORD

A resolution permitting women to sit as delegates was turned down yesterday at the morning session of the Episcopal convention held in Concord. A lengthy discussion both pro and con preceded the vote, a clear majority declining to pass it.

The trustees of the diocese were given full authority to complete the arrangements for the transfer of the bishop's house to the lot on the corner of Center and Green streets, in the Capital city. The present location is desired by Edward Duck to house his familiar art collection which he will later present to the New Hampshire Historical association.

Probably one of the most interesting debates was that on the resolution permitting women to sit as delegates. As a result of the vote of the members, Mrs. Mason of North Conway, who came to Concord to sit as an alternate was not allowed to participate. It was also decided not to make any change in the diocesan laws at present, as the clause relative to delegates is interpreted by high authorities as excluding women. Later in the session the bishop was given power to appoint a commission to consider the advisability of forming a council of advice to represent the interests of the women of the diocese.

It was announced that, as a result of the action taken by the last convention, the meeting of 1915 would be held on the third Tuesday of January at Grace Episcopal church in this city. A uniform system has been adopted throughout the country which makes the first year begin during the month of January rather than the middle of November.

Bishop Parker presented his annual report at this time. Several recommendations were made and he touched slightly upon the salaries of the deacons and priests.

The officers and committees appointed for the ensuing year follow:

Standing Committee—President, the Rev. Lucius Waterman, Hanover; the Rev. W. Stanley Emery, Concord; the Rev. Samuel S. Drury, Concord; the Hon. Robert J. Peaslee, Manchester; Edward C. Niles, Concord; Edward K. Wood, assistant to Bishop Parker to cooperate.

Secretary of the Convention—The Rev. Frederick S. Beattie, Goffstown. Registrar of the Convention—Miss Mary Niles, Concord.

Treasurer—Henry W. Stevens, Concord.

Chancellor of the Diocese—Edward C. Niles, Concord.

Deputies to the Provincial Synod—The Rev. C. L. Levine, Portsmouth; the Rev. C. H. Hazard, Manchester; the Rev. J. S. Little, Keene; the Rev. A. M. Dunston, Tilton; the Hon. Herbert J. Peaslee, Manchester; Frank H. Foster, Concord; Dr. George Cook, Concord; Gen. Harry H. Dudley, Concord.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR, GLOSS AND ATTRACTIVENESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe approved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it does it so naturally and evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Good Things For Thanksgiving Dinner

Roast Turkey.

To truss the fowl draw the thighs and wings close against the body and fasten securely with skewers or tie with string. Rub the entire surface with salt, brush with soft butter and dredge with flour. Place in a hot oven and when well browned reduce the heat. Baste with the fat in pan and two cupsful of boiling water, continue basting every twenty minutes until meat is done, which will require about three hours for an eight or ten pound turkey. If roasted in a covered roaster it is not necessary to baste very often, as the steam keeps the roast moist, but it should have the fat and the broth dripped over it now and then. Turn the turkey occasionally, so that it may brown evenly.

Turkey Stuffing.

Four cupfuls of stale breadcrumbs, a quarter cupful of melted butter, salt and pepper. Add sage or fine herbs if liked. Moisten very slightly with warm water or stock. This amount is for an eight pound turkey. Do not crowd either crop or body or the stuffing will be heavy. The giblets, stewed and chopped fine, may be added to the gravy or they may be previously prepared and added to the stuffing.

Mashed Turnips.

Place and quarter turnips and boil steadily in unsalted water until tender, drain, mash and season with butter, pepper and a little salt.

Thanksgiving Apple Cake.

Scald a cupful of milk and one-third cupful of butter, one-third cupful of sugar and one-third teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add a yeast cake, two eggs and three and a half cupfuls of bread flour. Cover, let rise, beat well and let rise again. Turn into buttered dripping pan, let rise, brush over with melted butter, cover with sections of apples, brush over with butter, sprinkle with cinnamon, sugar and currants. Bake in a moderate oven and cover with whipped cream.

Cranberry Frappe.

Four cupfuls of cranberries boiled in three cupfuls of water strained through funnel. Take three cupfuls of sugar and three cupfuls of cranberry juice and the juice of one-half lemon and mix all together and freeze. Delicious to serve with roast fowl.

Thanksgiving Nut Bread.

Five cupfuls of flour, five teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a cupful of nuts chopped fine, a cupful of sugar, a beaten egg, two cupfuls of milk, one-half teaspoonful salt. This makes two loaves.

Chicken Pie.

Dress, clean and cut up two fowls or chickens, says the Country Gentleman. Put in a stewpan with half an onion, a sprig of parsley and a bit of bay leaf, cover with boiling water and cook slowly until tender. When the chicken is half cooked add half a tablespoonful of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Remove chicken, strain stock, skim off fat, then cook until reduced to four cupfuls, thicken with one-third of a cupful of flour diluted with enough cold water to pour easily. Place a small cup in the center of a baking dish, arrange round it pieces of chicken, removing some of the larger bones; pour gravy and cook. Cover with piecrust in which several incisions have been made for the escape of steam. Wet the edge of the crust and put round a rim, having the rim come close to the edge. Bake in a moderate oven until the crust is well raised and browned. If puff paste is used it is best to bake the top separately.

Turkey Was Well Done

YANKEE DUCHESS

Once Miss May Ogden Goellet of New York City.

FRIEND OF QUEEN MARY.

Could Not Be Appointed Mistress of the Robes Because She Was Not Born in England—Collects Jewels and Has a Marvelous Necklace of Turquoises.

It was recently reported in American newspapers that the Duchess of Roxburgh, who before her marriage was Miss May Ogden Goellet of New York and Newport, had been offered the position of mistress of the robes to Queen Mary, vacated by the Duchess of Devonshire, consequent on the appointment of the duke to the governor-generalship of Canada.

DUCHESS OF ROXBURGH.

The rules of the court require that the mistress of the robes should not be of lower rank than a duchess, and this rule considerably limits the number of ladies to whom the premier position in Queen Mary's household could be offered. But the rules also say she must be an Englishwoman by birth, so the Duchess of Roxburgh was barred.

Of the duchesses the two who stand most high in the regard of Queen Mary are the Duchess of Portland and the Duchess of Roxburgh. The Duchess of Portland is mistress of the robes to Queen Alexandra, otherwise it is more than possible that the position would have been offered to her. The Duchess of Roxburgh's friendship with Queen Mary is not of very long standing. Her grace was, of course, received at court after her marriage, and afterward, with her husband, was the guest on several occasions of the late King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra.

The Duke of Roxburgh is one of the best all-around sportsmen in England. He shoots, skates, rides to hounds and has half a dozen other strenuous pastimes, in all of which he excels. He took part in the South African war and won much praise. During a reconnaissance at Rensburg a private lost his mount. The duke, realizing the great danger the man was in, rode out under a heavy fire and effected his rescue, the private and peer riding into safety on the same horse.

The duchess has a wonderful collection of turquoises, which has attracted a great deal of interest in society. The chief item in the collection is a large ornament for the neck composed of hundreds of turquoises, all flawless and of great beauty and value. The duchess had a hundred pieces of jewelry broken up to form this wonderful thing.

THE BIRD'S BATH.

Baking Tins Make Delightful "Tubs" For Feathered Pets.

Some canaries simply refuse to take baths regularly in the tiny bird baths usually provided for them. The thing to do then is to take all perches out of the cage and also the bottom. Then set the cage over an oblong or square baking tin, according to the shape of the cage, just partly filled with water. This will leave no place for the bird to go but to cling to the side of the cage, of which we will soon tire, or take his plunge. Of course, if the bird simply sits in the water without bathing he must not be allowed to remain in the bath for very long, as he will catch cold. Most birds, however, will bathe if thus hemmed and enjoy the bath much better than if it were taken in a tiny dish. The baking tin should be new.

Freshening Velvets.

Velvet must be ironed over the iron so as not to crush the pile. The best way is to get some one to hold a hot iron upward while you draw the velvet backward and forward along the hot surface. Keep the velvet well stretched and go over every piece carefully till the pile stands up well.

MARKETING CONFERENCE TO INVADE WASHINGTON

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A letter of 38,800 farmers banded together for common support in the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, which will be held in Washington, D. C., Dec. 4-9, has been received. The letter, which was signed by the National Farmers' Union of America, the New York State Agricultural Society, several state branches of the Farmers' Union of the South, and the Farmers' Union of Maine, an independent organization, and from many smaller organizations throughout the country, is dealing with a keen interest in being taken this year in the delegates that have been selected. Notable among the brotherhoods to be represented are the Wisconsin Society of Equity through its state organizations and its local, prominent officers of the grange and many managers, and directors of marketing associations. In addition, leaders interested in immigration questions, educators representing nearly one hundred institutions of higher education, state and national departments of agriculture, bankers, industrial and agricultural representatives of railroads and special delegates appointed by governors of states will meet together.

The meeting will be held in Chicago, Dec. 4-9, at the Hotel Sherman and delegates from all the states in the union and from Canada are expected. They will represent 2,000,000 farmers according to reports received by the officers of the conference. They will voice their common opinion and send representatives to Washington in connection with the literacy test bill for immigrants; the proposed investigation of the livestock industry by the Federal Trade Commission; a proposal to create a land settlement and immigration commission to devise national and state land machinery; laws to improve the grades and inspection standards for farm products; the question of ear shortage; the proposed embargo on food products; and other matters.

Taking an active part in the conference this year are the three largest farmers' organizations of their kind in America. The market committee of the American Livestock Association representing over 35 federated livestock farmers who are pressing for a federated trade commission investigation of their own industry "from calf to plate" as a basis of reorganizing it will ask support of the conference delegates. The National Council of Farmers' Cooperative Associations, representing nine state farmers, grain dealers' associations and totalling 200,000 grain farmers are calling their people together to start a move for cost finding in connection with the distribution and marketing of grain as a means of heading off the seven-cent-a-bushel bread to the consumer. And the grain farmers will also discuss ear shortage and embargo. The Milk Producers' Association of the Chicago Dairy district, representing 12,000 milk farmers, who earlier in the year won their strike are now calling a national meeting of milk producers from other territories where milk troubles have arisen as a basis of working out a common method of solving this important question. Reorganization of the milk industry lies in the front of this plan, according to leaders.

The conference has heard from organizations such as the Equity Cooperative Exchange of St. Paul, representing 70,000 grain farmers; the Cleaners of Michigan, representing

GENERAL WOOD CONGRATULATES MISS RUTH LAW

RUTH LAW GEN. LEONARD WOOD

When Miss Ruth Law, twenty-eight years of age, dropped down on Governor's Island, New York City, in her airplane from Chicago, she had broken two American endurance records, and General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, was one of the many to recognize the importance and daring of her flight. She flew Sunday, Nov. 19, from Chicago to Hartford, Conn., in 3 hours 55 minutes, and the following day she flew from Hartford to New York City, 217 miles. She had made the whole distance of 507 miles in 8 hours 55 minutes and 35 seconds. Her flight to Hartford broke American air-stop records, and her completed flight to New York City broke all distance records for the time.

The Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid Society of New York will speak on a land settlement policy for the insolvent farmer. The organization represented by Mr. Robinson has done the pioneer work in land and personal credit in the United States.

Robert D. Kent, president of the Merchants Bank of Passaic, Passaic, New Jersey, will show how to make farm credit work for land settlement.

Rector Amherst of the Oregon Agricultural College of Corvallis, Oregon, will present an agricultural policy for the Pacific northwest.

E. Dana Durand, former director of the United States census, now professor of economics in the University of Minnesota, will offer a settlement policy for the east-over lands of the northwestern states.

Protecting Our Immigrant. The special conference on colonization and immigration questions will be opened by Frederick C. Howe, United States commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, New York, who will lay down a national policy for distribution of the immigrant in relation to the farming lands of America. The discussion will be participated in by the delegates.

H. C. Day, president of the Temple State Bank, Temple, Tex., will give a paper on dairy cattle and hog raising for the small farmer.

Marketing problems of the grain growers will be discussed by Lynn I. Frazer, governor elect of North Dakota; Hoople, North Dakota; Fred D. Stout of Ashton, Illinois; and O. D. Anderson, president of the Farmers' Cooperative Association of South Dakota, Corsica, South Dakota. Farmers Will Bring Terminal Issue to Chicago.

The opening of the meat terminal market question has been referred to Joseph Griffin, president of the Chicago Board of Trade. His views will be discussed by the farmer delegates and Canadian aspects of terminal costs will be presented by representatives of the Grain Growers' Grain Company of Winnipeg, Canada, an organization representing over 50,000 grain farmers organized for cooperative marketing of their own grain.

A discussion of export problems will be led by Julius S. Barnes, a prominent grain exporter of Duluth, Minnesota.

Marketing of Perishable Fruit and Farm Products.

The section working on perishable fruit and farm products will be opened by Frederick K. Mutchler, director of cooperative extension work, Lexington, Kentucky, with an address on how Kentucky is solving her marketing problems.

The southern apple growers' problem will be outlined by Louis B. Magin, president of the Appalachian Orchards, Tallulah Park, Georgia.

Victor K. Mothney, president of the National Association of Auction Companies, New York City, will explain the progress and advantages of the auction method of selling perishable produce.

James N. McBride, State Market Director, East Lansing, Michigan, will read a paper on state encouragement of standardization. This will be followed by an explanation of how Michigan can certified grapes are sold by G. E.

Farmer and Ranch and Holland's Magazine, Tourist, for the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, Dallas, Texas; Thomas Daniels, secretary Farmers Grain Dealers' Association, Cullison, Kansas.

THE POSTMAN

Consider now the postman. In his natty suit of gray, He calls upon you daily and he has a pleasant way. He climbs the floor step lightly and he gives the bell a ring. And your letters and your papers very faithfully do bring. But the postman has his troubles just the same as other men. And once in awhile he shows it, though it's only now and then. For instance there are people who seem to think that he is the man who writes the letters, though they know it cannot be. And often when he's calling at some house along the way. There are people who will stop him and who to him will say: "Are you sure I've got no letter? I should have had one long before. I don't see how it can be; won't you kindly look once more." And then when he answers "I am sure you have none here," She will shake her head in doubting, and will say "That's very queer." If a fellow's paper misses, is a day or two behind, He will look at him suspicious just as if he'd this in mind; "You have held it back to read it; that's the reason it's behind." But the postman, he should worry; for his job is quite secure. If he does his work he'll keep it; that's a thing that's very sure. And besides this little postman knows some secrets very well Which he's sure these very rickety wouldn't like for him to tell. —Portland Sunday Press.

NAVY TO HIDE FUEL OIL

Prepares to Place Supplies Underground Safe from Hostile Aviators. Washington, Nov. 23.—The Navy is preparing to place its fuel oil supply at various navy yards in underground storage reservoirs to protect it from attack by hostile aircraft. An estimate of $1,000,000,000 for additional storage space of this nature at the Guantanamo, Pearl Harbor, Puget Sound, San Diego, Mare Island and Narragansett Bay stations was explained today to the House Naval Committee by Rear Admiral Harris, chief of the yards and docks. The six stations mentioned now have a surface tank oil capacity of 30,000,000 gallons. The new project would increase this supply by 55,000,000 gallons.

A STITCH IN TIME.

Portsmouth People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or achy back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Portsmouth people.

Mrs. A. D. Jey, 27 Myrtle Ave., Portsmouth, says: "My back gave me an awful lot of trouble and I had stiffness and dull pains just over my hips. Headaches were of frequent occurrence and pains sometimes shot from my shoulders into my head. My feet also swelled. At night my kidneys were very frequent in action and mornings I felt all tired out. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Phillips' Pharmacy, and they helped me right from the start and corrected this trouble. Since then, they have always given me great benefit whenever it has been necessary for me to use them."

Sleepy Time Story About a Very Popular Farmyard Fowl.

ESCAPE FROM A CRUEL FATE.

How Luck Saved a Fine Fat Gobbler From the Oven on Thanksgiving Day. A Hungry Turkey. In the Woods—Things of Interest to Children.

Thanksgiving was at hand, and, of course, Little Ned and Polly Ann were very much interested in it. I think, said Uncle Ben, I will have to tell you about

A TURKEY'S THANKSGIVING.

Gobbie Gobbie was a big fat turkey. He lived on a farm where there were lots of chickens and ducks and geese.

They had a good time, for Farmer Bluffs, who owned the farm, gave them lots to eat and took good care of them. Gobbie Gobbie was fond of eating, and he was one of the fattest turkeys of the flock.

"He'll be fine roasted," said Farmer Bluffs to his wife. "I think we'll keep him for Thanksgiving."

The day before Thanksgiving there was a good deal going on in the house. Every one seemed busy and gay.

When the farmer sent his son Jimmy out to feed the poultry Gobbie Gobbie asked him what was going on. But as Gobbie Gobbie used turkey talk in speaking to Jimmy of course the little boy didn't understand.

When Jimmy went whistling into the house he forgot to close the gate after him, and Gobbie Gobbie darted out.

"If Thanksgiving means having a good time I'm going off to have a good time myself," Gobbie Gobbie said, as he trotted off in the direction of the woods. "Guess I'll go off and be a wild turkey, as Grandfather Turkey Trotter said our folks all were in the long ago."

So he went through the woods looking for wild turkeys to live with, but there were none there or, of course, folks would have gone out to the woods and got one whenever they wanted a turkey dinner.

Poor Gobbie Gobbie couldn't find much to eat for supper. He slept in a tree, just as Grandfather Turkey Trotter said their folks had done in the long ago, but it wasn't so comfortable as he had expected.

Gobbie Gobbie had a creek in his neck when he got up, and breakfast was most as scarce as supper had been.

He wandered about in the woods for a day or two before Farmer Bluffs' son found him. Thanksgiving was over.

"He would have been so much tender than old Turkey Trotter," stated Jimmy's mother. "We'll have to keep Gobbie Gobbie for Christmas."

BATTLESHIPS MAY BE BUILT AT BOSTON YARD

Plant Considered in Connection With Construction of Capital Ships.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Light on the high and growing cost of naval warships given the House naval committee yesterday by Rear Admiral Frank B. Harris, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, is a strong indication that the building of battleships at the Boston yard will be a reality.

Subcommittee on Naval Construction of the committee on naval affairs, which is holding hearings on the subject of the construction of capital ships, has been holding hearings on the subject of the construction of capital ships, which is holding hearings on the subject of the construction of capital ships.

LITERARY NOTES

The December Woman's Home Companion

This Christmas number of the Woman's Home Companion is filled with good things. It is almost a fiction number for there are many stories by such well-known authors as Eleanor Hall, well known who begins the first part of a two-part novel, Mary E. Williams.

The special articles are interesting, especially the one by Arnold Bennett called "Who is the Rich Man?" An article called "Play Prudential for Amateurs" gives many valuable hints and "Deciding What to Make" is also helpful.

Then there are the various departments which have devoted themselves to Christmas advice and suggestions. The fashions, cooking, picture section and all the others are filled with suggestions and plans for Christmas.

When Ben Brach came out to tell a story, he was very sure that he was going to tell a story that would be in the "Rainy Day" just published by the Harpers. He has turned out to be the adventures, and the story is a very good one. The story is a very good one.

LADIES, HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE YOU?

New York, Nov. 23.—That twenty-minute dressing record of Mrs. William G. McAdoo, daughter of President Wilson, isn't in it. Here are a few New York records:

AMATEUR.
Mrs. Charles H. Tracy—"Fifteen minutes, hair bath and all."

PROFESSIONAL.
Elise Janke—Four minutes, thirty seconds.

Charlotte Greenwood—Three minutes and a half. Says: "I use hooks; no pins."

Juliette Day—Four minutes.

Lillian Tschum, show girl—Whispered: "I'd feel perfectly well dressed if I'd put on somebody else's clothes in the dark in two minutes, especially if I was hungry for supper."

And the beauty prize.
Amy Held says: "Many times it has taken me two or three hours to dress, and I am proud of it."

That promised Indian summer seems a long time in getting home. It is nearly as slow as the election returns.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

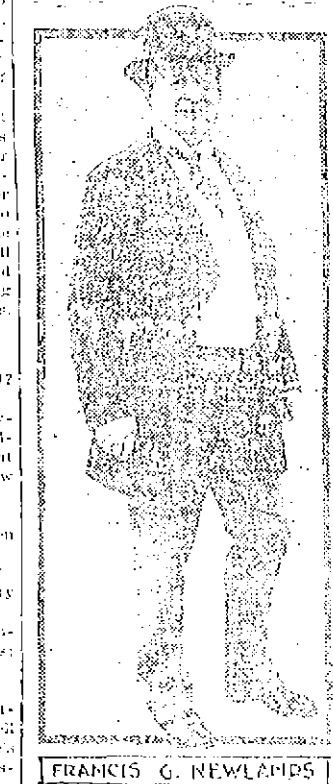

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but when will please you most will be a few weeks later when you see new hair, fine and downy all over the scalp. Danderine is the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exfoliating, stimulating and life-producing properties remove the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No dandruff, how dull, faded, brittle and falling. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing. Your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance and incomparable softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Investigates Railroad and Labor Situation

Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada is chairman of the joint committee of the Senate and House to investigate the Adamson law, passed at the last session of Congress, and the possibility of the railroads being able to pay the increased wages provided for. The committee, which met in Washington Monday, Nov. 20, will go into the whole railroad situation.

FEARS MORMONS MAY CONTROL CONGRESS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—The Mormon Church now holds the political balance of power in eleven western states and if it gets control of only two more it can hold the balance of power in Congress. Mrs. L. H. Shepard declared in a hot attack on the Utah religious sect before the Women's Christian Temperance Union here today.

"Utah has no Anti-Saloon League now a Prohibition Party and yet there has never been a time from the 24th day of July, 1847, that Utah could not have been dry by the order of the Prophet of the Mormon Kingdom."

"Recently had Brigham Young, the first Mormon prophet in Utah, gotten fairly settled, until he opened a distillery which he ran as trustee and Joseph P. Smith, the present prophet and fifth in line, has carried the partnership of the gin mill and polygamy to its apogee. The Mormon prophet defeated prohibition in 1890 and again in 1905 and now Utah is again for prohibition."

"Some people are wondering why the crusade against the Mormon Kingdom is being waged so persistently just now. Mormonism has grown more rapidly in the last fifty years than any other church and today they number a million and a half members. One person is every sixty is a Mormon.

"The Mormon Church is a polygamous kingdom; and remember that polygamy and Mormonism are not relics of Egypt or India or Turkey but were established in the 19th Century in the U. S. A. by men of Puritan stock from old New England, and the women were of the same race.

"Take for consideration the famous Geddes-Eccles case. David Eccles was the richest man Utah has produced; the great sugar magnate; Margaret Geddes was supposed to be his plural wife. A year ago last winter, David Eccles suddenly dropped dead in Salt Lake City. He had failed to provide for his last plural wife, Margaret Geddes. She appealed to his other wives for a portion of his estate in order that she might rear her boy in a way fitting to the son of David Eccles, but they refused to give her anything.

"Then she carried it to court in Ogden, where it was admitted that the president of the church within two years after Utah was admitted as a state, had permitted one of the apostles to marry David Eccles to Margaret Geddes and so, sitting on the witness stand in Mormon Utah, with a

Mormon judge on the bench and a Mormon jury in the box, she said: 'David Eccles is the father of my child; and the court awarded her $150,000 to rear her boy.'

"Wherein lies the power of the Mormon Church, you ask? In its great commercialism. For the Mormon Church as a church is the richest in the world. The church today has $27,000,000 hoarded up in Wall Street as a trust toward the control of any interests or trusts; and back of that is $200,000,000 more quick money in Utah.

"The sugar business in the U. S. today is controlled by the Mormon Church. They have built 14 sugar beet factories in Utah, Idaho and Oregon. The sugar merger was made in the office of the Mormon prophet. The day the war opened, Joseph Smith raised the price of beet sugar 1-2 cents a pound, clearing $5,000,000 for the church. As president of the church, he controls 20 banks.

"Recently the church has been buying up land in South America. They are just now planning to make New York state the greatest Mormon state, because it was in that state that Joseph Smith founded the church.

"Today, the Mormon Church holds the balance of power politically in eleven states. In eight of these sparsely settled states there are hardly as many people as in this state of Indiana and yet Indiana has but two senatorial votes, while there are sixteen votes from the eight western states. If the Mormon church gets control of two more western states, making thirteen in all, they can hold the balance of power in congress.

THIS MAN GETS HIS LIVING ON A DESERT.

Since 1855, W. E. Brown has been wrestling with the soil in Utah. In the November Farm and Fireside, a writer says:

"Not how to get back to the soil, but how to stay on desert soil miles away from big towns and yet make a living—that was a problem confronting W. E. Brown at his little place on the Green River in Utah. He began the struggle about 1855, so it may be seen he has been at it for a good while."

"Irrigation is absolutely necessary on such a place. There is an abundant water supply all the year round in the Green River. Pumping you say, is all that is necessary. Remember, however, that pumping machinery costs money, that gasoline or other fuel is something that must be paid for. Then consider that most settlers in such places are not abundantly supplied with ready money and you have
